When each member of the class of '27 shall have almost completed his course of Life and shall look back over the fight he has put up, if he regard THE MARSHALLITE as one of the factors which has kept his faith pure and shining, we, its editors, shall feel that our attempt to put on paper the spirit of John Marshall and of our class has not been entirely in vain.

Dedication

TO

MISS AMY KRATZ

WHOSE LEADERSHIP HAS

INSPIRED US, WHOSE FRIENDSHIP HAS

HEARTENED US, AND WHOSE WIT HAS DELIGHTED US,

WE DEDICATE THESE REMINISCENCES

OF OUR

HIGH SCHOOL DAYS.

MISS AMY KRATZ

Who can tell the strength of the heart of man,
Or who can measure a spirit's farthest span?

He who has led us forward through the years,
Though we with selfish aims and cowering fears
Have erred at times and crossed his will,
Has toiled for us and smiled and loved us still.

Who can sound the heart of this true man,
Or who can measure his spirit's farthest span
Which embraces all and binds us with a strength
That will endure through time and age's length?

JAMES C. HARWOOD, Principal

To her whose care has been a boon,
Whose life has touched those listed here
As the sun's strong light at noon
Suffuses earth with radiance clear,
Dispelling dark that all who will may see
And changing dreams into reality,
To her this class would sing with cheer
And pledge for aye their love sincere.

I shall not wish you wealth or fame,
For many now possessing
The one or other scarce can claim
That either is a blessing.

CLASS OFFICERS

February Graduates

LOUISE ANDERSON
"RED"

Louise is the personification of pep and action. E. D. G.

Red hair in her case, does not mean hot temper. E. L. M.

Louise is everybody's friend. R. T.

Forum Club; Athletic Association.

R. REYNOLDS ANDERSON

"Skinny" by nickname, but broad by nature. R. B. J.

If laughter were a synonym for money, Reynolds would be a second Rockefeller. H. R. A.

Just Reynolds, that's all—but who could wish more? T. B. H.

Athletic Association.

ALFRED V. ATKINSON

Short, full of fun, always ready for a good time, and a "plenty good" sport. C. T. B.

True wit is everlasting like the sun and is by all admired. V. E. B.

Hang sorrow! What should a man do but be merry? J. B. P.

Forum Literary Society; Athletic Association.

CHARLOTTE T. BACHE
("HAF-PINT JR.")

Though you are small, Charlotte, you will make a big gap in the John Marshall family when you leave us. H. B. R.

Bubbling over with love and joy, Charlotte has a large place in our hearts. C. B. H.

This little ray of sunshine always drives the blues away. L. H. M.

MARGARET LANE BARLOW

She touched the keys and nations heard entranced. W. H. B.

If you knew Margaret as we do, how lucky you would be! H. G. H.

A wonderful girl, true blue throughout, she is a real friend and pal to everyone. She is always ready to do her share of any fifty-fifty arrangement.
E. H. W.

Orchestra; Athletic Association.

TILLIE BERLIANT

Earnest is the word for her,
Yet she's gay as earnest, too,
Take your tales of woe to her,
She'll find the brighter side for you.
G. D.

Gentleness, kindness in her heart,
Goodness, gayety in her eyes;
Her heart is true to every trust,
And just as quick to sympathize.
F. S.

Forum Literary Club; Girls Senior Basketball Team.

WILLIAM H. BERRY

His brilliance is attributed to the fact that he has never held his brains down under a hat. D. C. D.

William always has something to offer you, be it a slap, a kiss (?), a grunt, or a tear; but it is usually a smile.
W. F. R.

He kept his ideals and won a crown.
I. M. P.

"Marshallite" Staff; Class of Drama, President (first term); Athletic Association.

EDWARD BLAKEY

May your life be like fried eggs, sunny side up. T. B. H.

Knowledge is power; how strong he must be! H. A. M.

He'll crawl, he'll stumble, or he'll stagger, but he'll get there just the same.
W. H. B.

Cadet Corps.

MILDRED BRAME

February of the year 1924 gave John Marshall its first glimpse of a properly awed little girl. From the first, she showed a basket-ball complex while all athletics seemed to be her hobby.

Since a rose by any other name is just as sweet, I introduce neither Suzanne nor Gertrude, but Mildred. A. E. W.

Basket-ball Team '25, '26, '27; Manager Basket-ball Team '27.

KATHARINE VIRGINIA BROWN
"KITTY"

Kitty, your smiles are sincere,
Your laughs are full of glee,
Your personality, very dear,
You suit us to a "T". G. B. A.

A dainty maid of winning charm, just a few notches short of perfection.
H. T. H.

She is full of fun but she knows how to be serious. P. S. F.

Athletic Association.

ANNE VIRGINIA BRYANT

Our stately, dark-haired classmate whose smile brightened many cloudy days at John Marshall. M. C. B.

Quiet and shy but with scholastic ability, she is a favorite with many.
M. L.

Anne, a dreamer ever striving for the ideal.—The best wishes of her Alma Mater follow her in her quests.
H. B. R.

Girl Reserves; Athletic Association.

VIRGINIA BUCKLEY

We are looking forward to the day when Virginia will be the ultra-modern Ellen Glasgow. I. M. P.

Has she school spirit? I'll say. That's why we call her a "brick." K. R.

We are looking to you Virginia, as America's future essayist. M. C. K.

Athletic Association; F. F. F. Club, '24, '25; Girl Reserves; Forum Club; Junior Spanish Society; Van Vort Debating Society; Associate Editor "Marshallite."

FRANK BUNCH, JR.

Laughing and joking, never serious for a second. Personality—that's a long one—but he has it. E. R. L.

'Tis queer how hard a lazy brain will work to keep from working. A. V. A.

Ever happy, every ready for fun, ever there when needed. B. T. V.

Sergeant Cadet Corps; Athletic Association; Forum Club.

MABLE C. BURRUSS

Hail ye, true Marshallites! We introduce to you Mabel, the truest Marshallite and friend among us. C. H. L.

A friendly lassie, too, is she, where grace and charm will ever be. D. S.

We know her pronounced ability for story writing will bring her success. Here's wishing Mabel the best of luck!
V. M.

Class of Drama; Girl Reserves; Senior French Society; Athletic Association.

MARGUERITE CHILDRESS

A smiling face, a merry eye, a disposition ever sweet—This characterizes Marguerite. M. E. W.

She's always happy and gay;
She's a good old pal in every way.
R. W. C.

Just as the sunlight turns the darkness into day,
So Marguerite drives all of our sorrows away. A. L. R.

ELISE COLLINS

Here's to a little blue-eyed girl
Who has a smile for all,
Who is first in work, first in play,
And first in the hearts of her classmates.
S. G. P.

She plays the piano with vim and pep,
Dances marvelously—never misses a step,
Very few have such an enviable rep.
G. R. M.

Athletic Association; Dramatic Club; Girls Reserve.

MARJORIE LEE CONNELL

"Pack up your troubles in your old kit bag and smile, smile, smile," surely is Marjorie's motto, for nothing daunts her and nothing worries her. L. M. S.

Always merry, ever gay,
Just the same yesterday or to-day.
V. E. R.

Soft brown eyes, demure and staid,
And winning ways make up this maid.
C. P.

KATHERINE COOKE

A flash—a brilliant smile—an echoed laugh. M. C. B.

Katherine is always her own self; and what more could anybody be? In short, she is just Katherine, and we love her.
E. L. C.

A smiling face, a happy-go-lucky look, a persistent chaser of gloom—there is Katherine. J. G. W.

La Petite Academie; The Forum Club; Athletic Association.

BLAKE W. CORSON, JR.

It has indeed been a pleasure to have had Blake as a companion during four years at John Marshall. T. E. D.

Blake knows High School Physics from beginning to end. M. H.

If all the great men were dying, Blake, you life would be in danger. W. H. B.

MARGARET DICKERSON

Quiet, steady, dependable, with big blue eyes, and a sunny smile, Pat will linger in the memory of all. M. B. G.

Pat may seem quiet and demure, but oh! what a barrel of fun and life she has. F. P.

Not too sober, not too gay, a rare good sport in every way. M. P.

Athletic Association; President of Forum Club Section 11; Senior Council.

ELIZABETH GARNETT DICKINSON
"COTTON"

I know a girl whose every curl
Is gleaming as with gold.
A girl, whom only God could make
And making broke the mold.
She has a smile for everyone
'Tis such a sweet one too,
But far the best of all the rest
Are the ones she gives to you.

D. C., JR.

Athletic Association.

THOMAS E. DUKE

Tommy's popularity in school is due to his unending generosity. C. E. F.

If you know him once, you will certainly like him twice. H. R. A.

Tommy is a "Duke"—yea, a prince of good fellows. W. B.

"Marshallite" Staff; Athletic Association; Forum Club.

ANNE EUBANK

The impiest "Imp." M. O. H.

Yours is the dewy freshness of a white violet. M. A. S.

Anne is a combination of fun, sweetness, and seriousness. M. P.

Imp Club; F. F. F. Club; Treasurer of Sophomore Class; President of Girl's High School Club; Athletic Association; Spanish Society.

DOROTHY EVANS
"DOT"

Not only gentlemen but all prefer blondes if they're like Dorothy.

M. O. H.

Dot's dignity, grace, and friendliness have won the hearts of all her classmates. V. B.

She has the hallowed feelings of domestic love and attachment, the pleasing remembrance of the past, and the joyous anticipations of the future. B. A.

Treasurer of the Pep Club; Vice-President of the Forum Club; Van Vort Debating Society; Athletic Association.

HENRY L. FERGUSSON

He's loud but refined; lazy but ambitious; bold but unassuming; musical but manly. J. M.

Henry has a habit of always being on hand with a joke, and he always looks at the bright side of life. A. B. G.

Call on Henry, he has help to lend. A. J. P.

Orchestra; Athletic Association; Hi-Y Club.

BENJAMIN FORD

"Who broke no promises, served no private ends, gained no title, and won many a friend." A. S. E.

Give him the road and he'll find the way. W. H. B.

A merry fellow, albeit silent at times. A. B. G.

LUCIE M. FRANCIS

"A smile for all, a welcome glad,
A friendly, coaxing way she had."
M. M. J.

"So buxom, blithe, and debonair."
W. H. B.

She is as soothing as soft music. I. M. P.

ALICE BROWNLEE FRIX

Do you know anyone who is a "cross-current and contradiction?" A combination of tease and loving friend forming a personality that fascinates you? If you do, it must be Alice Frix. F. P.

Alice lends us happiness, brightens up our darkest moments, and fills us with the desire to keep her as our pal, always. M. D.

Sec. Bootsies; Girls High School Club; Forum Club; Athletic Association; Van Vort Debating Society; Pres. F. F. F.'s; Class of Drama; Senior French Society.

OLVIA GARLETT

One might search the world thru, but never find one more studious than Olvia. M. C. S.

As a good student, Olvia has been appreciated by all who know her.
D. A.

Perseverance gains its meed, and patience wins the race. S. M. S.

T. JACK GARY "HUMPY"

Theophilus — the Marshallite with friendship bigger than his name.
J. C.

Humpy—one we all know as a good sport and one always ready to help.
J. R. C.

Although Jack is a big talker, he has many fine qualities that will help him all through life. M. A. J.

Sec'y. Athletic Association; Marshallite staff; Football Squad '26.

ARTHUR BINFORD GATHRIGHT, JR

Arthur is a boy who makes the world a better place to live in. H. B. R.

Genial, artistic, and humorous is Arthur. As an unpretentious and sincere friend, he has helped the spread of comradeship in the halls of old John Marshall. J. E. M.

As good and inspiring a companion as I have ever had. R. S. L.

Athletic Association; Marshall Debating Society; Senior French Society; Boys' Chorus.

CLARINDA FRANCES GIVENS

Frances' mind is as bright as her hair.
G. M'C.

A real genius with a pleasing manner.
D. T. E.

Frances Givens—Oh! that's the name
Read 'mong the lists of the honor roll fame.
True and dependable, happy and bright,
Yes, just the type of real Marshallite.
L. M. S.

Marshallite Staff.

ELIZABETH GREGORY

Elizabeth, the dark-eyed girl who says such clever things and keeps us in a good humor. P. D.

Her favorite expression: Well!

Her ambition: To see the morals of the United States government improved. W. H. B.

A joyous smile radiating sunshine is her gift to all who know her. N. V. R.

Athletic Association; Forum Club; Junior Spanish Society.

SUE HALL

Sue, John Marshall will miss you, with your radiant smile, your sunny disposition, and your fine school spirit. H. B.

Your friendship is esteemed, and your love to be desired. B. C.

Here's hoping that all your life will be as carefree and happy as your days spent at John Marshall! H. C.

Athletic Association; Secretary of the Imp Club.

WALTER LEE HARLOW, JR.

He'd rather be than seem to be. R. E. C.

Besides being an excellent student, Walter has been a good pal to his classmates. By his own cheerful disposition he has made those around him happy, too. M. W. E.

Walter's vitality spells success for him. H. R. A.

ELSIE HARRIS

Innocent she may look, but wise she is. K. W.

How fortunate she is in seeing the humorous side of things; and, as one of the fair sex, how unusual in not liking to talk! V. B.

Elsie is not only studious, clever, and ambitious, but she is very attractive in her manners and appearance. G. C.

Athletic Association; Forum Club; Dramatic Club.

MARY OVERTON HASKINS

Who is this symphony of color gliding rhythmically down the corridor—so lithe, so fair? 'Tis the passing of sweet harmony. M. V. S.

The Chicest "Chic." M. A. T.

If Juliet were as dear as Mary, who could blame Romeo? A. T. E.

Junior Spanish Society; Senior French Society; Secretaryy of Chic Club; Athletic Association; Girls High School Club.

GERTRUDE HOBSON

Sweets to the sweet—give Trudie a lemon. E. L. M.

A Grecian nymph in modern form. I. M. P.

Brown hair, laughing eyes—just a big little devil—that's Trudie. A. B.

Van Vort Debating Society; Dramatic Club; Basketball Squad '26.

COROLAN HOWARD

Corolan is indeed a paragon, for her's is grace and beauty, and a knack for making friends that cannot be surpassed. H. B. R.

Her modern freshness, combined with a little old-fashioned reserve, commands admiration and respect. D. A. D.

Corolan is a combination of student and coquette, for she came, saw, and conquered. F. P. H.

Imp Club; Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

THOMAS BOSWORTH HULCHER

One that we all might wish to be,
Bringing just and youthful jollity.
W. H. B.

Bosworth is like sunshine on a cloudy day. A. B. G., JR.

All the world's a stage
With Bosworth as comedian.
E. K. McF.

Corporal Cadet Corps, '23, '26; Athletic Association.

VIRGINIA IVEY

When it comes to making friends, helping friends, and keeping friends, Virginia can be depended on anytime, and anywhere. S. E. W.

Virginia is one of those enviable people who could get hundreds, but is just too lovably human to show off. M. A. T.

Wherever and whenever you see her, she is always the same. G. M.

Forum Club; Senior French Society.

MYLDRED J. JACKSON
"JACK"

"Where did you get those eyes?"—have you ever noticed them, or were you too busy admiring her hair? H. S. W.

Myldred delights us with her conversational powers, and with her friendly ways. H. B. R.

Judge for yourself—do red hair and sparkling eyes mean brains, or temperament? M. H.

Bootsie Club; Senior French Society; Dramatic Club; Freak Club; Athletic Association.

HAROLD JOHNSON

Loyal-hearted, strong of mind,
A finer fellow you'll never find.
L. B. P.

Loyalty to John Marshall and his friends has engraved Harold in the memory of his many fellow students.
K. R.

If you don't know him, you can easily become acquainted with him, for he is a friendly fellow to all, especially to the opposite sex. H. L. S.

PHYLLIS HUNTER JOHNSON
"PHIL"

A maiden, fair to see and good to know, one upon whom her learning sits gracefully but modestly. She is as dainty and lovely as her romantic name.
A. H.

Phyllis with her willing smiles
Has won friends by her charming wiles.
K. O. B.

Athletic Association.

CARLTON R. JONES

If you want to know anything about history, ask Carlton Jones. He will certainly tell you. V. E. B.

Carlton's mathematical ability has made him widely known in old J. M.
J. B. P.

A good student but a better pal.
T. J. G.

ROBERT B. JONES, JR.

He hitches his wagon to a star
He keeps his seat, and there you are.
R. R. A.

He is tall and thin as a skeleton, but his talent and hard work spell success for him. T. B. H.

Ye with whom grouchiness is a hobby,
Bask yourself in the sunshine,
Reflected from our Bobby. A. B. G.

Athletic Association.

MARGARET KELLY

Laughing, gay, with short raven curls,
A bit of seriousness—a girl among girls.
M. V. S.

Where can John Marshall find a substitute for merry, brown-eyed, lovable Margaret? C. B. H.

And while she smiles, another smiles,
And soon there're miles and miles of smiles,
So life's worthwhile because she smiles.
M. A. T.

Athletic Association; Eleven-eights Club; Senior French Society; Girl Reserves.

MARY CORNELIA KENNEDY

Have you ever looked into Mary's eyes? Then you know she never has the blues. V. E. R.

Mary chases gloom from our hearts and scatters sunshine there instead. V. E. B.

Mary's cheerfulness is a result of her wisdom and wit. L. P. W.

Girls' Baseball '25 and '26; Forum Club; Van Vort Debating Society.

GRACE ELIZABETH KING

A crystal fountain bubbling over with wholesome fun and faithful friendship. W. P. K.

Like an Angel's visit, short and sweet. V. E. R.

A friendship that like love is warm; a love like friendship, steady. M. L. S.

LOUIS KOOTNER

This easy going fellow has the valuable faculty of attaining his goal. T. R. R.

Louis is a good thinker with loads of common sense; he has high ideals and we wish him success. C. S.

When you want something done, get Louis to do it, and I assure you that it will be done right. H. B. F.

Athletic Association; Forum Club.

MARY JANE KROUSE

Mary Jane has a dignity and poise which have attracted many friends, and her lovable disposition has kept them. Here indeed is a real mind behind a pretty face. J. O'F.

Harwood Literary Society.

CLARICE LESTER

Clarice reminds us of a busy little bee —ever hustling about, and making our life as sweet as honey. H. B. R.

She has such bewitching ways, even to "ugly, attractive boys." K. R.

Talkative and amusing is Clarice. Her ability to generate lively conversation can't be beat. C. H. S.

Van Vort Debating Society; Vice-President of Forum Club 1; Home Economics Club; Athletic Association; Senior French Society.

ELIZABETH RICHARD LLOYD

Elizabeth moves as calmly through the hurley-burly of high school life as if she were walking along a garden path. S. E. W.

Libby: Something different. G. M'C.

Libby: "Paradise without a spice of deviltry would cloy." M. A. T.

Athletic Association; Forum Club.

ELIZABETH MAJOR

A willing worker and a true friend is she. R. H.

Elizabeth is one who is always ready to help any in trouble or in need. E. E. M.

In their own opinions modest people are dumb. N. F. T.

Forum Club.

ELISE McFADDEN

Elise is ingenious and still more ingenuous. K. M.

Even her frowns are fairer far
Than the smiles of other maidens are.
M. H.

Elise is sweet, Elise is kind:
Elise is a girl with a wonderful mind.
A. M.

Athletic Association; Student Government.

EMMIE MARIAN MEREDITH

Emmie is loyal, dependable, and sympathetic. M. B. G.

True and sincere,
She's prized most dear! S. E. M.

May Emmie's future be as bright as her smile! E. H.

Athletic Association; The Forum Club.

KATREEN MITCHELL

Katreen is one more reason for loving the Irish. C. A. P.

Pep + determination — conceit x sense = Katreen. E. K. McF.

We love to talk to her because she so freely shares her whimsical fancies.
I. M. P.

Senior Spanish Society; Felix Club.

MILDRED EUGENIA MONTGOMERY

She's a brave little girl who has a will of her own—even when it concerns talking one to death! I. M. P.

Her mirth the world required;
She bathed it in smiles of glee.
L. M. F.

What she wills to do or say is good, and wise, and pleasing like herself.
W. H. B.

Forum Club; Class of Drama.

FLORENCE MORRISSETT

She is sweet and lovable, always "à votre service" in your time of trouble.
P. H. J.

When independence walks abroad, accompanied by grace of mind and a sense of humor that never fails to delight, it speaks for itself. F. P.

She is always willing to do with a smile what one asks. F. E. C.

CLYDE EUGENE MOSS

Eugene, we feel safe in predicting that you will make the same high standards in the future as you have made in John Marshall. K. B. A.

"Silence is golden" has often been said, and I may add it is indicative of thought. F. L. P.

A quiet nature, a reserved personality, and a gifted mind make Eugene agreeable to all. R. A. G.

VIRGINIA NEWMAN

With an aspect like November's—always complaining when it doesn't mean a thing. P. C.

Maybe she doesn't like Geometry, but talking is her chief delight. She ought to join the Van Vort Debating Society. A. S.

"And still they gazed, and still their wonder grew,
That one small head could carry all she knew." P. G.

JANE L. NICHOLS

A most lovable girl—every ready "to forgive and forget." P. R. S.

Many a heart beats more quickly when graced with a smile from her. D. C.

"What's the use of worrying—it never was worth while," says Jane—but—we wonder if there isn't someone about whom she worries. M. B.

J. M. Club; Girl Reserves.

ADELAIDE CAROLINE NOLDE

Good, honest, kind, and true,
That's Adelaide through and through.
V. A. F.

Adelaide may seem quiet and a little bashful, but her sincerity and rare sunshine are not hidden from her friends. P. D.

Her policy: Loyal and true
In all that we do.
M. I. S.

JOSEPHINE NUNNALLY

She carries many books, some weighing less than a ton,
Thinking something of them, but more of jokes and fun. G. E. K.

There are no cobwebs in her mind, for she keeps it swept clean all the time.
C. K. B.

She rings in the nobler joys of life with sweeter ways and purer love.
J. C. A.

INEZ MOORE PEARCE

"Thy modesty is a candle to thy merit." W. H. B.

A deep admirer of art; a devoted follower of learning; an all-around good student and pal. E. L. M.

"And the joy of this world is found in making of friends" like her.
L. M. F.

Senior French Society; Girl Reserves; Van Vort Debating Society; Secretary Class of Drama; Athletic Association; Record Staff; Marshallite Staff; Harwood Literary Society.

JAMES THOMAS PEAY

Frivolous Jimmy! His gay voice makes him the friend of all his classmates and the exasperation of all his teachers. E. V. H.

If smiles were quarters, and ambition dollars, Jimmy would be Henry Ford.
M. E. G.

His captivating manner is admired by both sexes. I wonder why fellows can't find him between periods! E. M.

Athletic Association; Lieutenant in Cadet Corps; Honor Court; Football '26; President of Monogram Club.

HUGH BARBER

Hugh's attractive qualities are self-evident. L. I. H.

In Hugh we find the very essence of contemplation. His diligent nature will eventually make him well-known in the annals of history. M. P.

FANNYE L. BARKER

Fae is a perfect friend and a faithful student. R. C. S.

Shy and adroit, Fae makes a "hit" with everyone. W. K.

Full of fun,
Anxious to help her comrades,
Everyone loves her. M S. P.

FORREST WILLIAMSON BARKER

Forrest, we like you best because you are you. T. L. H.

He can get a laugh out of anything at anytime; it is hard to tell when he really is serious. C. A. P.

From outward appearances, Forrest is very bashful with the ladies, but when you know him, ah!—That's different. M. E. J.

Cadet Corps; Track Squad; Athletic Association.

JOSEPH BARKER

Joe's sense of humor, like electricity, draws sparks from others. J. H. F.

Joe is a really good pal, a lover of school athletics, a loyal son to his Alma Mater. T. A. W.

May good fortune follow him through life as it has been with him through John Marshall. H. C. P.

Cadet Corps; Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

ELSYE REBECCA BASS

You all know the girl with big blue eyes, a perpetual smile, and a ready joke. W. H. W.

"A merry heart maketh a glad countenance." F. S.

Happiness, like gold, is where one finds it, and we are sure, Elsye, the future holds much for you. E. L. N.

Forum Club; Girl Reserves; Athletic Association.

ANNE BLANCHE BATES

Although Blanche is small in stature, her cheery smile has won her a large circle of friends. S. C. B.

Her kinds words beget kind remembrances. T. M. V.

Always gay with a wicked little twinkle in her eyes, Blanche is one of the best pals we have. F. P. S.

Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

CLAUDE BATKINS

If you've gone thru high school and haven't met Claude, you've missed knowing a good sport, a real friend, and a jolly companion. M. W. H.

Great will be the one who is capable of filling the place of Claude Batkins. H. B. F.

A genial sense of humor marks his successful way through school. B. M. F.

Athletic Association.

MARTHA BAUGH

Sitting opposite Martha in French class is indeed a great pleasure. She is a diligent student as well as a charming classmate. M. D.

Martha Baugh, a girl full of fun,
Never feels happy 'till her homework is done. E. E. F.

Many friends has she Around her.
Ready to help
Them—she gives Happiness to them
All. F. L. B.

THELMA EURETTA BEAZLEY

Bright and witty,
Likewise pretty,
Here's a health to thee. M. E. C.

Thelma has a little smile
That's just a radiant glow;
And to every one that Thelma sees
That smile doth go. T. L. H.

Thelma doesn't tip the scales far, but her worth as a friend cannot be weighed. W. R.

Forum Club; Girls' High School Club; Athletic Association.

ALICE LOUISE BECKH

Who can forget the little romantic girl named Alice? L. H.

We shall look forward to Alice's future as a second O. Henry. C. S.

We love you when you laugh and we love you when you're blue,
But the real reason we love you is just because you're you. K. R.

Athletic Association; Home Economics Club.

OSCAR BERGER

"TADPOLE"

Here's to smiling, mischievous Oscar, to whom we wish all success! P. B.

Good friends are scarce,
And true friends are few;
But we have found Oscar,
A Marshallite true. M. T. J.

Good-natured, small, and clever—these are Oscar's most prominent characteristics. R. S. L.

Athletic Association.

GRAYDON BLACKWELL

Graydon is a fellow who just will not take second place in anything and be satisfied. S. C.

He is a good sport, a good cadet, and a friend who cannot be beat. F. H.

Everybody likes him. J. L. P.

Athletic Association; Cadet Corps; Student Government '26.

JESSIE MARIAN BLAKE

Dignity is merely a mask hiding the greater elements. B. E. M.

In spite of having the reputation of being a modest and demure maid, Marian is full of fun and is ready for any lark. M. V. H.

Marian's charm is in her earnestness, her sincerity, and her delicious sense of humor. E. L. D.

PHYLLIS BLAND

"The girl worth while is the one who can smile
When everything goes dead wrong."
E. J. A.

Her radiant smile and sunny disposition are like a sparkling diamond.
E. C. R.

Blue eyes, fluffy hair, precision of speech, and lovable air. Oh, yes! Phil.
J. L. H.

Girls High School Club; Athletic Association; Senior Spanish Society '25; Senior French Society '26.

VIRGINIA BLANTON

Here's to Virginia with her dimple and smile,
Who goes through life making things worth while. M. L. C.

Jollity, who attends her, is quite at home with Virginia.

He sits lightly upon her shoulders and never sleeps. E. H.

Virginia is a real blues-killer. She keeps her friends aching with laughter.
F. T.

MARY BLOUNT

If you don't know her, your only consolation is that you don't know what you've missed. M. B. R.

Mary's friendship is as true
As the mighty sea is blue. W. O. B.

Mary always has a jest on her tongue and a smile on her lips;

She is bubbling with fun to her finger tips. P. E. H.

REVAH BOLING

A rosebud set with little, willful thorns. M. C. W.

Gentle, winning, wondrous wise,
As jolly a comrade as is under the skies.
E. N. G.

Revah may be compared to a diamond ring as she's polished, pretty, and brilliant; but her splendid character makes a far better setting than a mere metal band. T. R. R.

Girl Reserves; Junior French Society; Harwood Literary Society.

DAVIS G. BOTTOM
"DICKIE"

Here we find six feet of energy, studiousness, and friendliness.
J. S. H.

Davis's clean sportsmanship makes him an asset to his Alma Mater.
M. C. L.

He has won us all with his ready interest. Here's luck to you, Dickie!
M. E. G.

MARGARET HILLSMAN BOTTOM

Margaret is a real sport who is always ready to cooperate in anything for J. M.—especially for the advancement of Student Government. E. G. S.

When you see her looking serious, you had better watch out, for mischief is brewing. O. L. D.

Talkative and giggly, friendly and sincere, is Margaret. J. R. C.

Girl Reserves; Athletic Association; Dramatic Club.

GEORGE STEEL BOWERS

Not too dumb, not too bright, happy, gay, and full of life. J. H. B., JR.

Georgie, another Ginter Parker of whom we feel justly proud. J. H. C.

George can work as well as play,
Success will surely be his some day.
M. A. K.

Football Squad '26; Athletic Association; Junior Spanish Society; Cadet Corps '23, 24.

LEONA BRANDT

Leona may be sad,
Leona may be gay,
But she's a good old pal
In a good old, rare old way. J. S.

Farmville's loss was our gain when Leona came to us. M. G. S.

ELIZABETH BRIDGERS

Just a hidden genius sort of girl, whose amiableness and agreeableness disperse the worst case of blues.
P. R.

"Never too hurried to be pleasant;
Never too busy to help." V. E. B.

From her lips come no sharp words to wound the hearts of others. F. P.

MARGUERITE BROADWELL

Who's the student with the charming curls?
She's one in a million, this girl of girls.
L. V. B.

Good-natured and generous,
Jolly and clever,
Her tongue, like a brooklet,
Goes on forever. G. E. C.

Some say she's young,
We know she is small;
But precious articles come
In small packages—that's all.
E. F. C.

DOROTHY BRODNAX

Who is that little senior with curly hair and twinkling blue eyes? It is none other than "Dot" who is just a slip of a lass; but by her ready smile, snappy repartee, and amiability she has become a general favorite among her friends. We predict that she will be popular throughout life. L. O. S.

CLAUDE BROWN

Claude herself is never sad,
And every moment makes someone glad. J. C. A.

Claude's hair is brown, her name is too.
There's poetry in her soul, she's a friend true blue. R. M. R.

Here's to a good sport
Like her, there's only one.
Head full of brains,
Heart full of fun. C. M. S.

Dramatic Club; Senior French Society.

A. WESLEY BUHRMAN

Equanimity of speech sometimes causes the fiery eloquence of a man to be quite forgotten. B. I. L.

"Wes" in his quiet manner has made many lifelong friends in high school. B. D.

None but himself can be his equal. E. T.

Athletic Association; Marshall Debating Society; Harwood Literary Society.

EDITH BURCH

Though very small "E. D." has a big place in our hearts. K. R.

She is a friend to all because she's always ready and willing to help some one. N. C.

Edith is like a garden of friendship; always within her one can find bouquets of sweetness, loyalty, and pep. A. B.

MARY ALINE BURKE

She stands for good citizenship. L. B. T.

Aline—a dependable girl, who's not too sober and not too gay. M. D.

It would be hard not to like Aline when one has become accustomed to her "different" ways. P. C. S.

MARY VIRGINIA BURKE

Mary is always quiet, but ready with a laugh; her cheerfulness and sincerity have helped us over many weary bumps on the road. M. B. G.

Modest and shy, but full of fun is our dark eyed Mary. K. W.

A charming maiden fair and tall,
With a cheering word and a smile for all. M. T.

Forum Club; Athletic Association.

ETHEL MATILDA BURKS

She's a good, well rounded student with marked ability in debating and public speaking. M. A. G.

In debating she can't be beat;
To have her friendship is surly a treat.
F. L. N.

A real pal with a million dollar smile and a disposition to back it. N. G. P.

CLARA MILES BURTON

Clara Miles always scatters sunshine and happiness wherever she goes.
L. E. L.

A jolly-good pal and one worthwhile. F. F.

Is she popular? Well, I guess.
Is she attractive O my, yes!
M. C. L.

Athletic Association; Girls' High School Club; Swimming Club '26.

PEARLE LOUISE CAPLAN

"Sunshine" we call her; Sunshine she is; and Sunshine she brings. G. F. C.

Pearls are not valued by their size, but by their quality. F. L. B.

Pearle is one whom it is a pleasure to know, and a joy to be with. L. D. P.

Athletic Association; Forum Club.

MARY CAPLES

Mary is always gay and bright,
She is wise and clever;
She has a heart that is just right,
A good friend is she ever. W. L. L.

Lookout, boys, watch your step;
Here comes Mary, full of pep. L. C.

Our days are better lighted by loving smiles than by the sun. H. S.

MILTON FRANCIS CARRIER

"Shuffling feet, a lisp, a sunny smile, and the biggest heart in the world" describes Milton as nothing else could. N. H.

The ease with which Milton makes friends will carry him far in life. E. R.

A friend once—a friend always, ever accommodating is Milton. H. "P." R.

Athletic Association; "Marshallite" Staff.

GOLDIE F. CHARLES

Goldie! Sweet, demure Goldie! F. M.

Dreamy-eyed Goldie! Let's hope that her dreams will materialize and John Marshall will one day be proud of her. E. H.

Quiet and reserved she may sometimes be, but Goldie has an imp of mischief which now and then peeps out of her blue eyes. A. B.

Class of Drama; Harwood Literary Society.

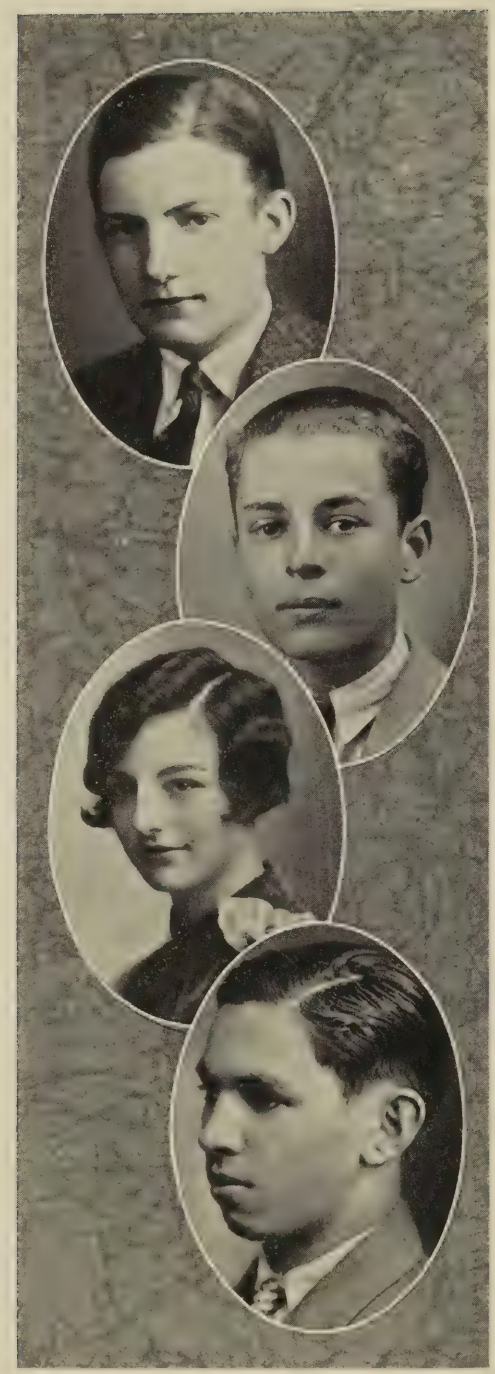
JAMES CHENERY
"NICK"

Just "Nick" to some of us, but a good sport and a friend to all the Class of '27. E. D. G.

"Jim" does not need to be advertised as he is known as our smiling, blushing class president. W. H.

His bright smile and witty words will make him a president long remembered by his class. J. R. C.

President Junior Class '26; President Senior Class '27; Manager Track '27; Baseball Squad '26; Assistant Manager Basketball '26; Athletic Editor Record '27; Sergeant Cadet Corps '26; Athletic Association; Marshall Debating Society.



JOHN CLAYTON

Look out girls, Johnny is one of those quiet boys! W. B. E.

Little Johnny, the electrical shark, is not a loud, but a quiet spark.
R. B. M.

Being bashful and quiet isn't so bad
When you are just a real good lad.
T. R.

BENJAMIN FRANCIS CLEMENT

Francis is one of those persons you just delight to have for a friend. He is what so many people aren't—an honest-to-goodness pal. A. S. L.

He is one of the few who have struggled through four years of Latin, he deserves much praise for it. W. S.

When Francis graduates, we shall lose a genuine product of old John Marshall. I. S.

ELMIRA ADALEENE COALTER

Elmira may giggle, but she's going to graduate. E. A. N.

Elmira is never too busy to wave a cheery "hello" to her friends. B. W.

Elmira's motto seems to be, "Act well thy part; there all the honor lies."
V. E. B.

JOSEPH COHEN
"JOEY"

Never was there a more carefree or happy boy. He seems somehow to find time for both studies and play.
W. N. W.

"Joey" is a laughing, likeable chap, the edge of whose sense of humor never gets dull. W. K.

His grim determination and amiable disposition will win for him success.

Athletic Association; Senior French Society.

SAM D. COLE, JR.

He has a smile that breaks down resistance.

Sam:

Assets, Good nature Friendliness
Athletic ability.

Liabilities, none we recognize as such.

Bon voyage on that eventful journey —Life.

Crew '25, '26, Capt. '27; Monogram Club; Sergeant Bugler Cadet Corps; Athletic Association.

JACQUELINE READE COLEMAN

A friend tender and true,
A fresh blown rose,
Sunshine and dew,
These things, my dear, are you.
C. C. H.

She meets with unbelief believing,
She meets deception undeceiving.
A. E. K.

Jackie is never thinking of tomorrow, but is making the most of today.
I. T. P.

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; Van Vort Debating Society; Harwood Literary Society; Felix!

THOMAS STOKEBY COLEMAN
"STOKE"

He hails from old historic Spotsylvania Court House. A. D.

His manly voice draws attention, and his personality keeps it P. S. F.

May he win all his cases in both love and law! G. D.

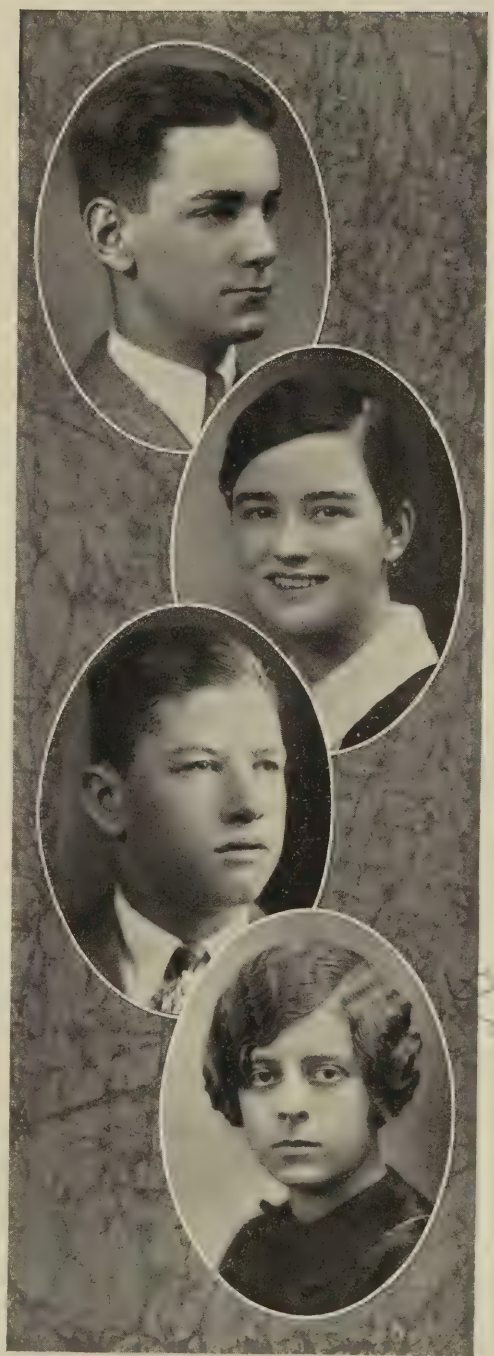
Cadet Corps; Athletic Association.

FLORENCE CONDREY

"It was only a glad 'good morning'
As she passed along the way,
But is spread joy over the livelong day." G. M. L.

"She is mighty small, but awfully nice." J. B. H.

What sweet delight a quiet life affords. A. C. J.



E. JAMES CONWAY

Although Jimmy prefers the hospital amphitheatre to the football stadium, he is a jolly good fellow. We know he will make a great success in surgery and John Marshall will be proud of him.

T. B. J.

EARLE TRUESDALE COOKE

As long as my memory withstands the attack of time, I shall remember Earle as a sincere friend, a youth of high ideals, and a person of enviable ability. B. I. L.

Earnest, careful—
We cannot finish enumerating Earle's virtues. R. R.

Full of wit, worth, and wisdom.

J. G. W.

ELSIE MAY COOPER

E is for energy; she has a lot to spare.
L is for love—to tell it wouldn't be fair.
S is for sunny, that's her way you see.
I is for industry.
E the example she sets for you and me.

S. B. T. AND E. G.

"Tall and stately and passing fair."

H. A. C.

KATHLEEN ELIZABETH COOPER

Oh, some win by beauty and grace,
And some by their brains, they say;
But Kathleen's art
To win every heart
Is by her happy way. L. M. S.

We make friends by being friends,
So it is with Kathleen. M. L. C.

"Conscientiousness is her shining armour." F. R. N.

Athletic Association.

LEONE A. COOPER

As friendly, thoughtful, kind, and true,
Leone will be remembered by all of you.
F. E. E.

Success to a good student—especially in Latin. M. E. T.

Leone, soft and sweet like her name, is an unassuming and true friend to all who know her. C. K. B.

Girl Reserves; Athletic Association.

ANNA VERNON COSBY

She's quite studious when she wants to be, but she is always ready for fun.
T. P.

Loyal-hearted, strong of mind,
A finer girl you'll nowhere find.
E. W. B.

Anna of the dark brown hair
Has a host of friends from everywhere.
M. G. B.

JANE NOLAN COTTEN

Jane is true to herself, to everybody else, and to her duty, always. A. M.

Things wont' be so happy here,
Skies won't be so blue;
Each room and hall will be more drear
For, Jane, we'll be missing you.
A. H., JR.

Sweet, sympathetic, and refined is Jane. J. C. W.

Girl Reserves; Treasurer "J. M.'s" Club '26-'27; Athletic Association; Junior Spanish Society.

HENRY W. COTTRELL, JR.

Henry is a quiet, but genial fellow, always ready to do a favor. A. S. E.

Here's to our noble captain! Long life to him and his company. T. L. S.

Straight-forward and true, here is a friend worth cultivating. M. E. G.

Cadet captain "B" Company; President of Honor Court; Senator-at-Large; Vice President of Officer's Club; Member of The Athletic Association; Range Officer of the Rifle Club.

RALPH E. COVEY

John Marshall knows that, except for his modesty, Ralph might easily shout, "Veni, vidi, vici," as did Caesar of old. C. L. B.

To have a friend is to be a friend; this accounts for Ralph's numerous pals. M. C. M.

"An empty wagon makes the most noise." But our Ralph never rattles. J. D. R.

Lieutenant Cadet Corps; Officers' Club; Honor Court; Associate Editor, "Record" Staff; "Marshallite" Staff; Secretary, La Petite Academie Francaise.

ROBERT CRAWFORD

Here's to Bunnie, one of J. M.'s best. We wish him happiness and the very best success. A. C. W.

Small in statue, large in heart, a friend to all. J. H. C.

Bunnie's wit and willingness to help others has made him a Marshallite of whom we are all proud. T. J. G.

CARRIE ELIZABETH CURD

John Marshall will miss you, Elizabeth, but we feel sure that the same success you have attained at high school will follow you through your career in life. E. J.

Your friendship is a priceless gift; your many friends wish you great happiness. A. J. P.

May the best of good fortune follow you! M. M.

Athletic Association; "Record" Staff.

LEONA MAE CURLEY

When lessons and pleasure clash,
Let lessons go to smash. M. A. S.

Loyal and sincere
To all who know her here. V. K.

Why shouldn't gentlemen prefer blondes, if they are all like Leona? V. L. W.

Athletic Association.

AUDREY LOUISE CURTIS

We have many chatterboxes in our Senior Class—here's a listener.

C. F. G.

"Still achieving, still pursuing!" That's Louise all right. Moreover, she is a good companion and very jolly!

Louise, the narrator. One may be sure he will hear the book in full if Louise tells him about it.

ELLA LEE DAVIDSON

Lee is small and sweet and gay
To the hearts of all she makes her way.

E. L. B.

Does she talk? More than that, her words flow! Lucky audience, too!

J. M. B.

She was made for happy thoughts, playful wit, and laughter.

M. M. J.

WILLIAM HENRY DAVIES

William's sincerity, coupled with his lofty ideals and high standards, make him exemplary for all youth.

B. I. L.

Ambition rules Bill's brain, and love, his heart.

E. T. C.

We shall never forget William. He is as true a Marshallite as can be found.

R. W.

Vice-Pres. Marshall Debating Society; Pres. Harwood Literary Society; Treas. French Society; Cadet Corps.

LOUISE DOROTHY DAVIS
"DOLLY"

Seek where we will; we shall not find another pal so dear.

R. B. G.

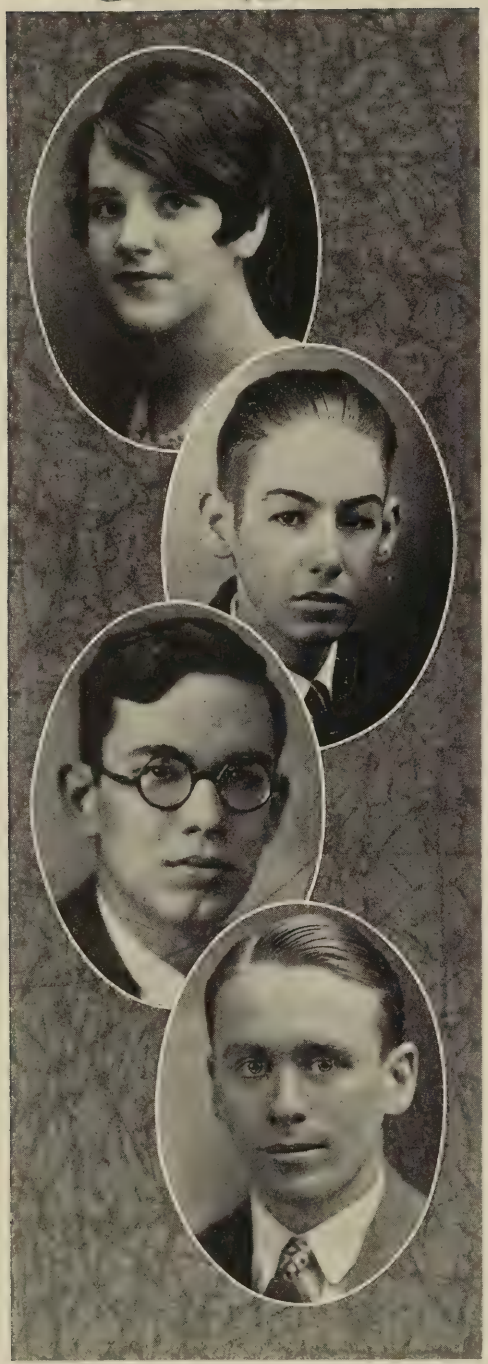
Scattering sunshine on every side,
Winning friends with her ready smile,
Studious, lovable, full of good cheer,
A charming companion all through the year.

A. E. H.

How could we be sad or troubled when Dolly was near with her smile?

G. C. R.

J. M.'s (Gems); Athletic Association; Van Vort Debating Society; High School Club; Senior French Society.



OLGA LEONETTA DAVIS

Three cheers for Olga who carries a ray of sunshine where she goes, inspiring and encouraging all who are forlorn! L. F. S.

If you haven't met Olga during your stay at High School, then your education has been sadly neglected.
C. R.

Athletic Association.

STEWART L. DAVIS

No single virtue do we most commend; they all deserve much praise.
H. F.

Stewart's willingness to participate in school activities makes him as true a Marshallite as can be found.
W. D.

He is always willing and able to help a pal in distress. T. S. G.

Cadet Corp '25, '26; Athletic Association; Senior French Society; "Record" Staff; Hi-Y Club.

CHARLES BERKELEY DENOON

Joy and jest as well as wisdom in his person shine. J. T. P.

He likes to laugh, he likes to joke;
He lightens the burden of other folk.
H. J.

His hobby is guns. Be careful; don't shoot yourself. E. G.

BENNIE DICKERSON

You can't say, "Bennie sent me," because he wouldn't. He does things himself — that is how he accomplishes so much. W. R.

We are sure Bennie would make a good lover; he has had much experience.
R. E. B.

Bennie has a jolly, unselfish heart—the greatest of all gifts. E. T. C.

MARY DOMBRICK

"A true friend unbosoms freely, advises justly, assists readily, adventures boldly, takes all patiently, defends courageously, and continues a friend unchangeably." V. E. B.

Quiet until you know her,
Then she outshines everybody.
A. M. H.

"It is better to be small and shine
Than to be large and cast a shadow."
C. A. P.

Girls' High School Club; Athletic Association; Senior French Society.

DOROTHY C. DOWNES

Dot is the blond who helps one with a grin. Here's to her happiness!
I. M. P.

Studious, merry, full of fun, of a happy nature is Dot. M. V. H.

When death's dark stream I ferry o'er,
In heaven itself I'll ask no more
Than just a friend like Dorothy.
W. H. B.

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

LUCILLE EACHO

Never expect "Lou" to trade any birthright for a mess of pottage, or for anything else, even Captain Kidd's treasury, unless she thinks over it awhile.
U. C. L.

She is as serene as a silent night in June. Her hopes are modest.
G. L. E.

Simplicity is her keynote. How fortunate she is! M. G. P.

IOLA EATMAN

She has a purpose strong and true.
M. D.

"Still waters run deep," and so it is with Iola. H. B. W.

"They are never alone who are accompanied with noble thoughts."
M. V. S.

Wm. B. Eddington

WILLIAM BANNING EDDINGTON

A fine companion, a good student and a voice like a mocking bird. If he's not smiling, something's wrong.

F. B., JR.

Banning's cunning, industrious, and sly;
He passes bright remarks with a wink
of the eye. M. H., JR.

Cadet Corps '25, '26; Boys' Chorus; P. C. V. Club.

LOUISE EDWARDS

Only those who know Louise will realize what an attractive girl she is.

M. G. P.

A little nonsense now and then
Is Louise o'er and o'er again.

M. E. G.

The willingness to do for others is the firmest of all foundations, and on this, we trust she will build a towering future crowned with success.

C. O. R.

ELIZABETH EINSTEIN

A dainty maid with manner most demure. E. N. G.

When Elizabeth joined "our happy throng" two years ago, her magnetic personality drew friends from the students, and respect from the teachers.

J. C. O'F.

Elizabeth is pleasant, happy, and always willing to help one in time of trouble. F. M'C. T.

Girl Reserves; Junior French Society; Athletic Association.

EVELYN EINSTEIN

Bubbling over with life and joy, Evelyn, a real pal and a good sport, buoys us on. M. D.

"With such a comrade, such a friend,
I fain would walk till journey's end."

M. V. S.

A brook of contentment bubbling over its way of happiness, bringing joy and sweeping away cares before its steady flow. R. M. N.

Class of Drama; Girl Reserves; Van Vort Debating Society; Athletic Association; Senior French Society; Harwood Literary Society; Treasurer "Le Petite Academie Francaise."

ABE SAUL EISEN

He's a business manager and a student too,
A sturdy supporter of the White and Blue,
A loyal friend in all things ever true.
T. E. D.

Dependable and trustworthy best describe him. E. M. P.

High School shall gain added fame through Abe, even though we regret his leaving. E. D. G.

Business Manager "Marshallite"; Assistant Business Manager "Record"; Captain Company "A" Cadet Corps; Honor Court; Athletic Association.

HANNAH R. EMROCH

Hannah with her laughing brown eyes dispels all gloom. She brings jollity tripping "on light fantastic toe."
E. H.

Brown eyes, brown hair, low in statue, but high in character.
G. F. C.

Just studying without playing makes one a dull individual. But Hannah believes in a sane and sober mixture of both. E. E.

Class of Drama.

MILDRED CLAIRE ENGLISH

Unerringly she went through the fields of study. E. G.

What a patient girl she is! A. J.

English is her name and English, her hobby. Her voice is low, but ask her something and see if she doesn't know.
L. K.

Van Vort Debating Society.

MELVIN WYATT ESTES

When the sun fails to shine
And the skies above are gray,
Just look at Melvin's happy smile;
'Twill chase the blues away.
L. M. S.

Not to have known him is to have missed some fun. W. L. H.

Laughing, joking, smiling, he must spend happy days. G. R. M.

FRANCES FARMER

Frances has done much to cheer the long, hard journey of her classmates. E. E. S.

If you see a quiet, careful, smiling, cheerful, willing, and ready worker—then you know Frances. W. A.

Frances is not only a loyal student but also a lovable companion. L. E. L.

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

MARTHA LORIMER FAUNTLEROY

If all the girls in Texas are as sweet and gracious as Lorimer, what a delightful state it must be! E. J. A.

Lorimer is one of those lucky few, destined by the gods to have lovely hair. J. E. T.

"She who plants kindness gathers love." R. L. S.

LUCILLE STOKES FIELD

A sweet, forgiving disposition and a radiant personality go far toward making Lucille one of the most charming girls in John Marshall.

A smile that is lovely and winning,
A heart that is finer than gold,
A good pal in all kinds of weather,
We know, 'cause we've known her of old. H. R. S.

High School Club; Secretary of Pep Club '26; Athletic Association; Junior French Society; Van Vort Debating Society.

PAUL S. FENSOM

When it comes to having a friend, a buddy, or whatnot, you'll find in Paul just what you haven't found in others. K. V. B.

Dumb but studious. T. C.

We all know Paul as a loyal friend, and a true sport. What could be more admirable? G. S. B.

Cadet Corps; Athletic Association.

ARTHUR FIELDS

Arthur may seem to most us as quiet and unobtrusive, but once you gain his confidence, you will find he is a true pal with much wit. G. A. P.

To know him and have his friendship, is indeed a privilege. A. W. B.

The best of luck to a good friend. E. H. G.

ETHEL ELIZABETH FINDLAY

Jolly, happy, full of fun;
An average student is this one.
R. M. R.

As deep as her eyes are brown,
Is her friendship for everyone.
A. L. R.

She, with the meek brown eyes, and a smile like sunshine, darts into many a sunless heart. B. C. L.

Athletic Association.

JOSEPH HAMPTON FLETCHER

Joe has those qualities of friendliness, unselfishness, and willingness to oblige, which go to make up a real friend. J. B.

Joe's perseverance and faithfulness, as shown on the track squad, predict something great for his future. W. F. R.

The mystery is that "slow Joe" can toot such "fast" tunes on his saxophone. V. B.

Athletic Association.

GAYNELLE FONES

Just being happy is a fine thing to do,
Looking on the bright side, rather than the blue. A. C. J.

Emerson said, "To have a friend is to be one." Gaynelle has followed this theory. R. M. R.

We shall never forget this John Marshall friend, Gaynelle Fones. E. E. S.

Girl Reserves.

ELSIE LOUISE FORD

Here's to Elsie—always ready for work or play and excellent at both.
S. F. W.

Although she does not succeed in everything she attempts, she never fails to try. L. K. M.

With that twinkle in her eye none, young or old, can keep from loving her.
M. B. R.

VIRGINIA FORD

You think she's shy?
Oh me; oh, my!
You just don't know her,
That's why. R. C. S.

We cannot so easily forget a companion like Virginia. A. C. N.

She is all the name "Virginia" represents. E. L. F.

MAX FRATKIN

A congenial companion, whose sparkling humor is never dim. W. K.

If you want a good friend and a boy to lend a helping hand whenever you need one, meet Max. G. C.

A rotund, rollicking, romping fellow, he brightens the atmosphere around him.
J. G. W.

Cadet Corps; Athletic Association.

CHARLES ERNEST FREEMAN

Everyone knows Charlie for his humor. J. B. P.

Charlie is as full of school spirit as a charged electric wire is of electricity.
H. R. A.

Charlie's wit and cheerful grin
Make all his fellows take him in.
T. E. D.

"Record" Staff.

LILY MAE FREEMAN

Full of pep, full of glee,
A good all-round sport is she.
M. C. S.

Although she is petite, one never fails to know that she is around; for she has done her share to keep alive the spirit of John Marshall. H. F. H.

Someone's peppy,
Someone's gay,
Someone's a friend,
And that's Lily Mae. T. F. U.

Forum Club; Athletic Association.

HUNTER FRISCHKON, JR.

"Pinkey" is that chunky lad whom you see either "cracking" jokes or laughing his way through J. M. H. S.
T. C. M.

Hunter's ever-present wit and laughter account for his popularity. W. D.

Hunter is a boy of fun, but joking aside, he has plenty of sense and is always ready to help with words or deeds. L. M. K.

Athletic Association.

BLANCHE FROSTICK

Bright as the sun, her eyes the gazers strike,
And like the sun, they gaze on all alike.
M. C. W.

Much better is she
Than others can be—
Such very, very good company.
M. M. J.

Athletic Association; Senior French Society '26; Orchestra; Girls' High School Club.

DOROTHY FURR

Laughing and talking
All the day long,
A twinkle in her eye,
And in her heart, a song.
A. E. T.

Dot would make a very successful head for an "Anti-Worry Club," for she has gotten more laughs and fewer frowns out of High School than almost anyone we know. W. T N.

Chic Club; "Record" Staff; Athletic Association.

F. HENRY GARBER

C'est un bon jeu, élève, ami.
T. C. S.

May you always be as lucky as you are now and as happy, also. W. F.

The best of comrades, the staunchest of friends,
Possessor of friendship that never ends.
E. N. G.

MARY E. GARLICK

High School won and St. Catherine's lost when Mary decided to cast her lot with us a few years ago. E. H.

Mary is the very essence of good nature, and is ready for any escapade.
M. H.

The names of the four clubs of John Marshall characterize Mary: "Chic," "Pep," "Imp," and "Bootsie." M. P.

Home Economics; "Chic" Club.

ERNEST DUTOY GARY
"POP"

Sincerity of purpose, strict scruples concerning honor, and undying loyalty distinguish Ernest from the "common herd." F. L. P.

Serg.-Gary, the walking I. D. R. of the Cadet Corps and one of the pillars of Marshallite spirit. J. C.

Here's hoping your wish may be gratified, and that you may some day be one of our Admirals. A. S. E.

Sergeant Cadet Corp; Athletic Association.

IRENE GARY

"A face serene,
Eyes that gleam,
A real sunbeam." V. R. K.

"Sweetness, kindness, cheerfulness itself,"—nothing more needs to be said of Irene. G. R. W.

It has been said that all sweet girls are honest, kind, and true; I couldn't leave out one of these and still be describing Irene. M. V. S.

IRVIN SIDNEY GARY

Good-natured Irvin may be seen strolling leisurely along at any time.
S. M. J.

A true friend to those who know him, a good fellow, and a good student is Irvin. J. W. T.

His handwriting may not be the best, but his thoughts are all right. May they help him to everlasting success!
L. M. K.

Athletic Association.

ELIZABETH GILL

"Her air has a meaning, her movements a grace, You'd turn from the fairest to gaze on her face." E. W. E.

There is a light within her eyes which leaves and moves
Whenever she thinks of those she loves.
R. E. B.

"Like the brook's low song is her voice, a song which cannot die."
M. C. W.

Dramatic Club; Van Vort Debating Society; Girl Reserves; Junior French Society; Athletic Association.

MARGARET ALMETTA GAY

Petite Margaret is sincere, lovable, and companionable. She is ever ready to share her knowledge with others.
E. M. B.

She is a wonderful "pal" and has charms of unknown quantity, among which is her power of coaxing one to her way of thinking. A. L. M.

Margaret is one girl in many.
K. E. M.

KATHLEEN HOGE GILL

Kathleen is a happy, carefree girl.
L. A. C.

Labor, with courage, conquers all things. W. C. E.

Her many exploits insure her finding success in the future walks of life.
C. C. G.

First in work, first in play, first in the hearts of her classmates.
M. E. L.

VIRGINIA GILL
"JINKS"

Thou Puck, thou Imp, thou agile elf,
Oh! woe is John Marshall when thou hast left. I. S.

Laughing, gay, full of sparkling wit—and just bubbling o'er with fun. Who?
Why "Jinks," of course. M. V. S.

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; Treasurer of Imp Club; Class of Drama.

RUTH GIVENS

"Four fleeting years of laughter and tears,
Then parting and regret—"
Thus Ruth leaves us to our fate.
M. F. K.

A good sport, a good friend, a good all around girl—
We love her for her own true worth..
F. L. P.

"A maid of winning charm." I. S.

Bootsie, Vice - President; Girl Reserves; Athletic Association.

HELEN GLASS

As radiant as her smile is the sunshine that she spreads. A. L. R.

A person more generous, loyal, or kind
Than Helen would indeed be hard to find. S. R. R.

By her dimples, her eyes of bluest blue, we shall remember Helen, our pal —the one who was always where we needed her most. A. E. V.

MARION GLASS

Stately and tall—
She moves in the halls
Chief of a thousand for grace.
P. C. E.

With joy in her eyes and songs from her heart,
She's bubbling with pep from the very start. G. E. M.

Marion's beauty is pleasing to us.
A. B. H.

PEARLE GOLDFEIN

Here's to the sunny smiles of California. E. G.

Pearle has done her very best,
These happy four years through
To make her school days a success
And to prove she's loyal and true.
(She did it). W. L. B.

P eppy
E arnest
A miable
R estless
L oyal
E nergetic P. A.

Athletic Association.

ESTHER GOLDSTEIN

Unerringly she wended her way through fields of study. M. L.

A girl like Esther is hard to forget.
She's different from any I've met.
E. L. R.

Eyes like the sky, hair like gold.
She has many friends both new and old.
R. L.

ROSE BARBARA GOODMAN

Here's our laughing jolly-good pal, "Rose"; if she were "Goddess of Laughter and Sunshine," she could bring us no greater delight. L. D. D.

"The one who loves and laughs must surely do well" E. T. C.

Rose is uniquely modern, but attractively endowed with traits which smack of old-fashioned salubrity. B. I. L.

President of "J. M's" (Gems) Club; Class of Drama; Van Vort Debating Society; High School Club; Athletic Association; Senior Spanish Society; Harwood Literary Society.

ROBERT GRATTAN

Do you wonder why he is liked? Just meet him and you will understand.
R. E. C.

Probably the best thing one man can say of another is that he is a "fine fellow." Robert's friendliness, wit, and ability have earned for him this title.
N. B.

Sergeant Cadet Corps.

EDWIN GRAVES

May Edwin have the best of luck after he leaves J. M. this June.
S. H.

Though Edwin tries to evade all the work he can, he gets there just the same. M. H.

JOSEPH GREGORY

Joe will 'figure' in the fields of accountancy. M. S.

Joseph's recreation is the reading of classical literature. J. C.

If you want to know anything about city politics, ask Joe. T. D.

Athletic Association.

MARY NAOMI GRIGGS

You may know that "Nance" is near when you hear her contagious laugh.
P. D.

If you know a good joke, you always want to tell it to Naomi. When you've heard her laugh, you wish you knew another. M. B. G.

Always happy, with a cunning smile.
L. V. W.

Athletic Association.

JOHN EMIL GRUNDY

Although quiet and reticent, John is as much fun as any other boy when you know him well. G. E. W.

"Jack" is small but clever. E. L. F.

John and books of adventure are constant companions. May his adventures be successful! A. S. L.

CATHERINE GUNN

Here's to Catherine,
A winsome lass,
And a jolly good sport
Of the Senior Class.

T. E. B.

She's always cheerful, always gay,
And a good old girl in a good old way.

J. S.

A studious girl and the best of pals.

M. E. B.

Junior French Society; Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

HELEN FRANCES HALL

Helen seems reserved until you know her Her ever-changing mood from seriousness to fun is a charming characteristic. E. C. L.

Oftentimes she hides her true self behind a serious look—but when she smiles! L. M. F.

Here's wishing you the best in life!

R. E. S.

Athletic Association; Forum Club.

JOHN EDWARD HAMILTON
"HAM"

The fact that Eddie is "girl shy" has won him many friends of like character in John Marshall. F. S.

Easy-going, good-natured and smiling, that's Eddie. Best of luck be yours!

A. S. L.

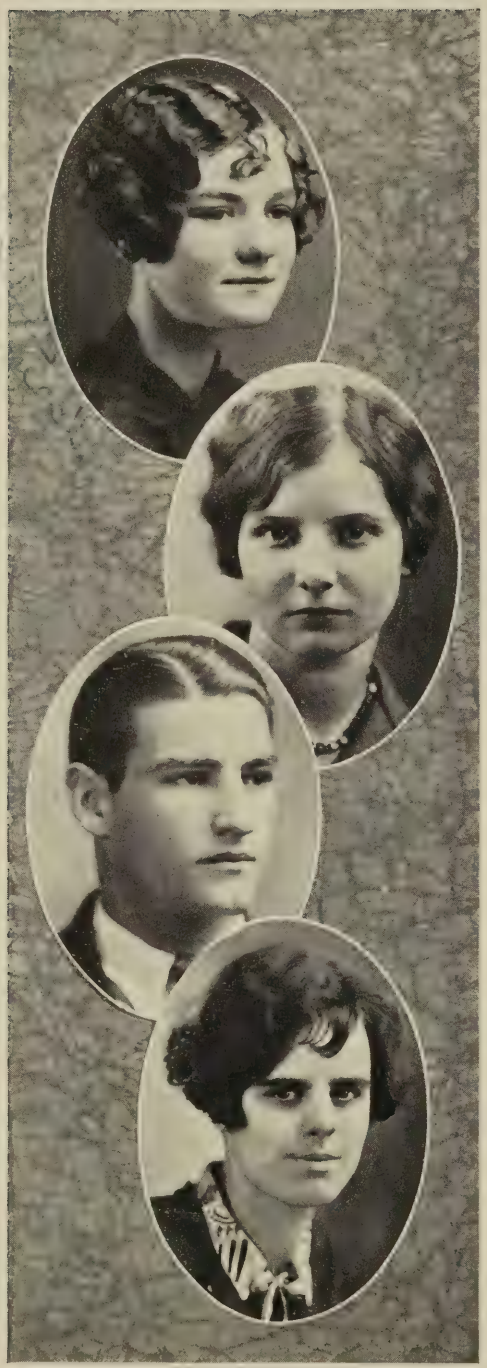
JAMES GUNTER

He doesn't get hundreds because he breaks something (a leg or a head) every football season. T. R.

There's something about Jimmie that carries the day—maybe it's his broad shoulders. E. P.

Jimmy laughed, and the gods laughed with him, at the puzzle they together had created. I. P.

Athletic Association; "Marshallite" Staff; Harwood Literary Society; Forum Club.



ELIZABETH HANCOCK

A dainty lassie, pretty of face,
Stately, yet filled with charming grace,
Is Elizabeth. N. M. O.

"For she is wise, if I can judge her;
And fair is she, if that mine eyes be true." V. A. S.

Elizabeth is a friend to be desired.
She possesses sterling qualities and a happy nature.
What more could one wish? J. M. B.

That rare flower called friendship blooms in her smile. F. L. P.

Senior French Society; Athletic Association; John Marshall High School Orchestra.

JACK HARRIS

If he can't find time to study history, he will set to work and make some.
M. E. P.

Jack is a good sport, a student too,
But above all else, a friend that's true.
A. V. A.

The winds blew and the "Tempest" raged, but he remained unmoved, untouched except by praise. W. E. W.

Forum Literary Society; Dramatic Club; Track Squad, '25, '26, '27; Athletic Association.

RAYMOND HARRIS

Raymond is the embodiment of two opposites: smallness of physique, and greatness of character. B. A. W.

"Ray" may be a trifle small, but great things come from small sources.
H. R. A.

"Blessings on thee, bashful boy,
From our hearts we give thee joy."
H. J.

Forum Club; Athletic Association.

RUTH LEE HARRIS

A winsome, delightful personality, with a bountiful supply of charm and good looks, endeared her to us from the start of her John Marshall career.
J. L.

Vivacious, gracious, and lovely, Ruth reminds one of an old-fashioned daguerreotype disguised in modernity.
R. M. K.

Pep Club; Harwood Literary Society; Dramatic Club; Girl Reserves; Junior French Society; Athletic Association.

RALPH HATCHER

Ralph is an artist, public speaker, and ladies man. R. R.

In him one finds the qualities of true manhood. L. H. M.

GRACE WILHELMINA HOLZBACH

Forward is her watchword. M. L. W.

"To doubt her pureness were to want a heart."

Sunshine to others, that's Grace's greatest gift.

J. M.'s (Gems) Club; Girl Reserves.

MARY W. HORTON

"She can meet with triumph and disaster, and treat those two impostors just the same." R. E. C.

If we were compiling a cook-book for humanity, we'd put down this recipe—for the best all-round girl—one Mary Horton. L. A. L.

For a peppy and dependable friend, look around for Mary. J. L.

Athletic Association; J. M.'s Club; Basketball Squad; Orchestra; Girl Reserves.

LOUISE HOWE

Serene and unruffled by the stir of events, Louise has gone her way with independence of spirit and seriousness of manner. E. L. C.

Louise's quiet little laugh is like a gate to her sweet nature. L. A. B.

Louise breaks thru the rampart of the stoniest hearts with her sunny disposition. K. R.

Forum Club; Home Economics Club.

VIRGINIA HOWEY

Some win by beauty, some by grace,
And some by their brains—so they say,
But Virginia's art to win every heart,
Is her winning, winsome way.
M. T. J.

Always, where'er her footsteps went,
She was the Queen of Merriment.
M. M. J.

You know her. Think awhile — Virginia Howey, who has that winning smile. V. M.

Bootsie Club; Girl Reserves; Senior French Society; "11/8" Club; Athletic Association.

SELMA VICTORIA HULCHER

Selma loves her work, her play, and, above all, her friends. L. P.

We love every inch of you; imagine the length and strength of our love.
E. L. D.

Gay and witty,
Likewise pretty,
Here's a health to thee! E. A.

Girl Reserves; Athletic Association; Basketball Team '26, '27.

MARGARET V. HUNT

Margaret has many talents, the greatest of which is Art. M. H. J.

Margaret's a fine cook; a hint to the wise, you know. C. E. A.

Charming with her smile, gentle with her rebuke, we find Margaret welcome in every group. K. R.

Athletic Association; "Marshallite" Staff '26, '27.

PEARL HUNT

Always laughing, always gay,
Pearl never varies from day to day.
L. P.

Pearl, with her winning smile and charming ways, is as precious as the jewel for which she is named.
H. T. H.

"Pearl is like a stream in spring, laughing and joyful—happy in the joy of living." E. L. M.

LOUISE HUTZLER

A bewitching personality, a wonderful dancing ability, natural beauty, and charming friendliness have made Louise the idol of her classmates. E. J. A.

A perverse and satirical sense of humor. M. A. S.

A bit of simplicity—a dash of fire,
The kind of friend we all desire.
G. M.

Athletic Association; Van Vort Debating Society; Girl Reserves; "Record" Staff; Associate Editor "Marshallite."

FLORENCE JACOBSON

As gaily and as happily as a song bird flutters around gladdening the lives of his hearers, so does Florence delight her many acquaintances. M. P.

No poet could express the sweetness and loyalty that is Florence's. B. W.

Whatever she starts gets finished quickly on not at all. M. L.

FRANCES JENNESS

From day to day
She wends her way
Sans eclat! M. L. E.

John Marshall loses Frances because, perhaps, some college can teach her more. M. G. B.

I wonder why we like Frances.
Because she's petite?
Many of this year's Seniors are.
Because she's Frances? That's it.
G. H. S.

S. WINSTON JETER

We all know Winston by her friendly ways and her spirited, loving disposition. L. H.

Winston is Wise. She always seems to have knowledge of a great deal more than she says. A. T.

Winnie's smile is worth a million. Why? She never loses it. V. E. G.

Athletic Association; Secretary and Treasurer of Home Economics Club.

MARGARET MEKIE JOHNSON

There's laughter in her eyes and music in her laughter. No wonder we love "Mickey." B. M. F.

If I were to describe Margaret, no one else could use the dictionary in the library nor would there be room for anything more in this big book.
E. M. A.

So unaffected; so complete a mind!
M. V. S.

MARY YANCEY JOHNSON

A good mixer and a friend to all.
H. W. C., JR.

Blue eyes, brown hair;
Always willing, always fair;
Full of life, more pep yet;
This is Mary, you can bet. M. H.

Her humor keeps the dimples in her cheeks busy flashing their messages of joy to all who see this most feminine Marshallite. M. C. B.

ROBERTA KERR JOHNSTON
"BERTA"

Who is the cute little "Bootsie" that we see so often in the hall and almost break our necks to speak to? H. T.

A good friend and sincere,
'Tis our friend Roberta, dear.
R. P.

She is liked wherever she goes; we all love her. E. T.

Bootsie Club; Athletic Association; High School Club; Dramatic Club.

ALICE WHITLEY JONES

Alice hasn't been with us long, but as soon as she came to J. M. from Smithfield she made a name for herself, and a good one. C. W.

Alice is just another reason for our loving brunettes. S. H.

She is always smiling and is very industrious. F. L. N.

Van Vort Debating Society; Dramatic Club.

ANNE CARRINGTON JONES

Take the key called accommodation, turn the lock of pleasantness and enter into Anne's disposition. E. E. S.

Everyone who knows Anne is drawn to her by her brightness and cheerfulness. L. E. L.

A girl with a sunny smile, and a rare sense of humor! J. C. O'F.

Van Vort Debating Society; Girl Reserves.

ELIZABETH JONES

Here's to Elizabeth,
You are joyous all the while,
May you never have deep sorrows
To mar your happy smile.
A. B. A.

When the doors of John Marshall close in June, the old school will lose some of its sunshine. M. E. K.

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; Class of Drama; Senior French Society; Harwood Literary Society.

EVELYN FRANCES JONES

In Evelyn we find a sweet and gentle character whom no one can forget.
L. A. S.

Evelyn is just about as big as a minute, but in her we find sixty seconds of joy. M. C. S.

Evelyn has won many hearts with her cheery disposition and gay laughter.
B. E. M.

Girl Reserves; Athletic Association; Dramatic Club; Felix Club.

ROSE KAUFMAN

R-ollicking
O-original
S-agacious
E-nergetic N. V. R.

M. V. S.

Editor-in-chief of "Record"; Girl Reserves; Van Vort Debating Society; Class of Drama; Athletic Association; Senior French Society; Harwood Literary Society; Reporter Sophomore Class; Secretary Junior Class.

ALVIN KELLEY

Good nature is to be desired above riches. M. E. T.

Alvin is one of the true optimists who laugh away their fears. M. A. E.

He thought much for others and little for himself. V. H.

Athletic Association.

ELIZABETH KEMP

Truth, purity, and love dwell within her golden heart. J. R. C.

"Thy memory is to me Like some enchanted far off isle."
B. A. L.

"Just as Homer could speak of the rich and royal without envy, so she can deal with the poorest of the poor without a touch of slight or contempt."
A. L. S.

Athletic Association; Senior French Society '26; Girl Reserves.

JESSIE KENNEDY

She may be young
She may be small
But little Jessie outsmiles them all.
G. E. R.

Light-hearted and smiling,
Happy and gay,
She ne'er shirks her lessons
Throughout the long day.
M. G. B.

If you're looking for a pal, here's a hint—there's Jessie! K. C. H.

ESTELLE KING

Estelle's winning smiles and comical remarks will take her through life successfully. M. G. S.

"To know her is to love her."
J. L. N.

Estelle is a real friend; she's quiet, true, sincere, and always ready to help one. E. F. B.

WILLIAM KING
"WILLIE"

Silly at times, but abounding in wit.
M. S. P.

"Making friends is as important as playing basketball," says Willie
F. L. B.

The champion checker-player of Virginia—uses his head sometimes. J. C.

Basketball '27.

MARGARET AUGUSTA KNOWLES

"Dolly" does not form so many friendships, perhaps, but those that she does make are deep and true. F. J. P.

Quiet she may appear, but there is plenty of action and deep thought behind her blue eyes. F. E. M.

Though quiet, "Dolly" conceals a world of knowledge beneath her soft curls. E. F. B.

MARGUERITE KRIKORIAN

She is a new comer, but who would know it? How very much at home she is with us and we with her! M. S. P.

Quiet and gentle as an April breeze.
G. E. K.

Her kind nature shines like her eyes—large and brown. B. C. L.

ELIZABETH LACY
"LIZ"

A true Marshallite with a big dash of fun. A. K. L.

She dances gaily down the hall leaving a ray of sunshine and a host of friends in her path. J. M.

"Liz" with her vivacity and charm is an able leader of the "Peps."
H. S. H.

President of "Pep" Club; Vice-President of Girls High School Club; Treasurer of Junior Class; "Record" Staff; Athletic Association; Class of Drama; Senior French Society; "Freak" Club.

MAJORIE DARE LACY

She builds, not for fame, but for character. Her glee and gladness glorify the world. R. C. S.

Charm and gayety stand forth among her many attractions. E. L. R.

Witty, laughing, and gay, a dashing bit of cleverness. F. L. B.

President of Senior Spanish Society.

JULIA LATANÉ

Light of heart, light of step,
Quick of wit, full of pep.
M. C. W.

School days are far too short when one has a merry, lovable, loyal comrade like Julia. C. B. N.

"Gentle Julia" is filled with a delicate appreciation of beauty and a great love of daintiness. M. V. S.

Secretary of Van Vort Debating Society; Girl Reserves; Athletic Association.

MARGARET LAUGHON

Write her characteristics in fifty words? Nay, how futile! Her charm would overflow a book. E. W.

"Grace in all her steps; in every gesture, dignity!" M. B.

"Linked sweetness, long drawn out." A. B.

MARGARET LEAKE

Her friends?—they are many.
Her foes?—are there any? L. P.

*M*odest; *A*ttractive; *R*eliable; *G*racious; *A*miable; *R*adiant; *E*ven-tempered; *T*rue. C. M. B.

Margaret is like a sparkling spring to a tired person: refreshing and inspiring. F. G.

Pep Club; "Record" Staff; Girl Reserves; Athletic Association; President of Sophomore Class; Dramatic Club.

EMMA LEARY

There's a mischievous, kind, "Hail fellow, well met" gleam in her eye.
J. C.

A rare combination of sunshine and seriousness, and a jolly good sport all the way through. P. D. AND R. W.

Emma is a most fascinating person with her childish, winsome manner of expressing herself. F. P.

Girl Reserves; Athletic Association; Senior French Society; Harwood Literary Society; Bootsie Club; Dramatic Club.

ROBERT STUART LECKY

Merry brown eyes and rosy cheeks set off a fun-loving nature that plays and plays and plays. J. M.

Bobbie's sunny smile is a light in everybody's darkness and a sign of his everlasting friendliness. A. B. G.

Good-natured, honest, and true.
C. M. B.

Athletic Association; Boys' Chorus; Hi-Y.

MINNIE LEBARWICH

Andy has nothing on us, for we too have a "Min," sincere, conscientious, and true. S. I.

"Music hath its charms." So has Min. At the piano with notes so soft, what could be sweeter than melodies and Min? You shall always remember her as an excellent character. I. C.

AVERY ("FLASH") LEINSON

If he carries the same interest into his life work that he has in his school work, we know his success will be a world-beater. A. R.

"To do or to die" for a friend is his motto. J. C.

May his fiery locks show him the road to success and happiness. M. F.

Cadet Corps; Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

ROSE LEVY

A classmate true is often met,
But one like Rose we can't forget.
C. M. S.

"A quiet brook, flowing o'er rocks of wisdom, on to greater knowledge."
F. S.

Rose Levy—dark hair, dark eyes,
Learned in books and very wise.

Athletic Association; Senior French Society.

ALBERT SHAFER LEWIS, JR.

Albert is a hail-fellow-well-met. To be more explicit he is an all around good sport. We wish him the best of luck. J. E. G.

Studious, dependable, and jolly, this is the impression one gets of Albert.
G. E. M.

Good natured, full of fun and always ready to help—that's Albert.
W. A. H.

JOHN WINFIELD LEWIS

For four years "Winnie" has served J. M. loyally. His attractive manner has never ceased to win friends for him. He worked while he worked, and played while he played, and was an inspiration to many. We are sure his determination will carry him to success.
J. W. F.

THOMAS ALLEN LIGON

Here is a boy who seems rather quiet and serious to a stranger, but nevertheless is so full of fun and friendship that he is known to his many friends by his cheery smile. J. R. C.

Thomas has a will all his own and plenty of determination to succeed. May his energy be directed to high and noble things! E. R. V.

Thomas is uncommonly endowed with the characters and virtues that are necessary for success. B. I. L.

Cadet "B" Company; Athletic Association.

BERTHA LLOYD

Bertha may not be the only person present, but she is one who would be greatly missed if she were absent.
E. R. N.

"Her voice murmuring low
As silver brooklets flow." C. U.

Bertha, the nightingale, keeps all her friends up-to-date in new songs.
V. F.

Girl Reserves; Junior Spanish Society.

MARY LONDON

Mary—smiling, teasing, joking and yet so kind to every one that you can not help but like her. S. F.

Always ready to befriend, to help in any way she can. D. E. C.

Mary would rather tease some one than to do anything else. M. T.

LUCY ELIZABETH LONG

With a loving smile and in a willing way, Lucy is always ready to help when she is most needed. C. M. B.

Lucy so loving, Lucy so fair,
Lucy, your giggles will get you there.
G. R. M.

Lucy is just the girl whom everyone loves—winsome, gay, and full of mirth.
F. F.

Athletic Association; Senior French Society.

B. IRVING LOVENSTEIN

Better to be little and shine than to be large and cast a shadow. E. T. C.

Irving is generally esteemed by his companions and teachers because of his intellectual curiosity and ability.
W. D.

Perseverance, initiative, and sincerity are only a few of Irving's many admirable qualities. R. M. K.

Marshall Debating Society; "Record" Staff; Athletic Association; Debating Team.

LILLIAN A. LOWRY

Twins-twins. What bewilderment!
Is it Lu, or is it Lill? Oh, it's Lill.
I'd know that carefree laughter anywhere. E. A.

The pure mischief behind your Irish blue eyes, Lill, is one of the reasons why we love you. N. M.

No sinner nor no saint perhaps,
But—well, the very best of chaps.
G. P.

Forum Club; Girls High School Club; Athletic Association; Basket ball '26, '27; J. M.'s (Gems).

LUCILLE A. LOWRY

Lucille, the other half of the Lowry twins, smiles seldom, grins sometimes, and laughs always. J. L.

We value a friend like you;
Eyes so blue, and a heart so true.
W. M. H.

One feels Lucille's qualities—one does not have to see them. She is artistic in an appreciative way, and friendly too.
M. H.

Basket Ball Team '26, '27; Athletic Association; Felix!

CECIL LUCK

Cecil is a sweet, little, blue-eyed, curly-haired girl, who smiles deeply into your heart. E. B.

Restful, jolly, bright, and square,
None with her can quite compare.
R. C. S.

Upon Cecil have been bestowed two choice gifts—a good nature and a sweet temper. W. C. H., JR.

MARY E. LUGAR

Lugar is her last name, but the L should be changed to S. This would suit her better, for she certainly is sweet. J. N. C.

Refinement personified is Mary, the lady. C. W.

Mary with a life full of joyousness brings sunshine into the lives of others.
A. M.

Girl Reserves; J. M.'s '25 Treasurer; J. M.'s '26 Vice-President; Athletic Association.

JOHN CHESLEY LUNDIN
"CHET"

Chet can be trusted to do the right thing both for his school and for his friends. O. A. K.

Chet is a man's man. He is the delight of fellows who understand his great nature and his dry humor.
G. A. P.

Athletic Association.

FLORENE L. MAHONEY

"Honey" is the best pal a girl could have. Here's hoping others will appreciate her as I have. N. M. S.

"Everyman has in himself a continent of undiscovered character." The Columbus of "Honey's" is well repaid for his efforts. L. A. L.

First in athletics,
First in fun,
First in the heart of everyone.
L. L.

Basketball '26, '27; Athletic Association; Forum Club; J. M.'s (Gems); Girls' High School Club.

EMMA MALLORY

If success is attained by looking on the bright side of life—Emma will surely get there. M. M.

Common sense is her special attribute—we wish such sense were more common. I. M. P.

She is an important link in the chain of friendship. E. S.

Forum Club; Girls' High School Club; Athletic Association.

EDITH MARTIN

If ever you have known Edith, you will always keep her in your heart.
T. P.

Edith is always cordial; her manners are never cold. L. P.

Her virtues are many, and her faults are few. V. B.

GLADYS ROSE MASSEI
"PRETTY SING"

An imprisoned Puck; a humming bird poised for light; an April day.
M. A. S.

"Pretty Sing" draws prettily, writes wittily, and dances like the wind. How few have such diverse talents!
J. S. H.

Oh, that giggle of hers! J. E. T.

"Record" Staff; Class of Drama; Harwood Literary Society; Girl Reserves; Athletic Association; Senior French Society.

MILDRED CHRISTINE MATTHEWS

Her contagious good humor lightens the hardships of many days. R. E. C.

Always smiling and vivacious, Mildred has a little corner in the hearts of us all.
F. P. S.

"A phantom of delight." W. P.

Athletic Association; French Society; Girl Reserves; President J. M.'s Club '26.

WILLIAM WATT MATHEWS

William is large in every way, peppy in all things, and out for a good time always. B. H.

His is the good naturedness that hurts. R. W. T.

Most precious things are small; but not in your case, Bill. W. E.

Athletic Association; Ordnance Officer Cadet Corps; Forum Club.

MARGARET WOODLAND MAURICE

A ray of sunshine beneath a black cloud of hair. J. S.

She's always to be found hard at work, for she takes life seriously.
J. H. C.

Long we'll remember her;—long may her marcel wave! W. T. ST. C.

ELEANOR McCARROLL

Eleanor has a pleasing disposition behind a radiant face. R. G. H.

"Look in those brown eyes;
There the light of genius lies.
Some day in the Hall of Fame
As an artist we'll find her name."
A. M.

Cheerful, loving, and kind,
Her faults are hard to find.
M. P. M.

Athletic Association; J. M. S. Club; French Society; Girl Reserves.

GERTRUDE McCONNELL

Mistress of herself, though all else fail.
M. A. T.

Gertrude believes and practices this saying; "Laugh and the world laughs with you." E. L.

Sincere, loyal, and always ready for a good time. V. I.

Athletic Association.

MARY LEE McCRACKAN

Because of Mary Lee's reticense, few of us have known her very well. However, the favored ones within her circle of friends admire her greatly. She will always be remembered by us for her perfection in mathematics. E. L. C.

AZILI MEADORS

A small piece of humanity plus dark blue eyes, a saucy nose, a delicious mouth, and dancing feet, equals "Puddin" Meadors. J. C. W.

"Puddin" Meadors, dainty and petite and oh! how sweet! M. L.

Blythe and bonny, good and gay,
The greatest of help when one's sky is gray. T. W.

Athletic Association; Secretary-Reporter J. M.'s Club; Girl Reserves; Senior Spanish Society; Class of Drama.

LOUIS H. MILLER

When one sees how fantastically bedizened with inconsistent perfections Louis is, it becomes obvious that only a few can appreciate him. Graciousness and intensity are his and a certain whimsicality. His air of nonchalance and his flare for the artistic make him an outstanding figure.

Class of Drama; Forum Club; Sergeant Cadet Corps; Football Squad '26; Athletic Association.

CHARLES MILLS

Our costliest treasures come to us in smallest measures. G. H. M.

The main trouble with Charles is that he is just overflowing with life.
M. A. T.

"Chile" is loved by all J. M. because of his humor and gayety. J. J. K.

ELIZABETH LEE MILTON
"BETSY"

Betsy, you look wise.
Better change it! T. J. S.

If you would "Hitch your wagon to a star" follow Elizabeth. H. G. H.

If you want a good friend, meet "Betsy" and you will find pleasure and fun in your companionship with her.
M. H.

Class of Drama; Van Vort Debating Society; Athletic Association.

MARY VIRGINIA MONTEIRO

Virginia is joyous, laughing, full of fun,
With always a kind word for everyone.
C. S. W.

Virginia rates with the teachers; she rates with the boys; in fact she rates with us all. M. I. T.

Yes, "Gentlemen prefer blondes"—particularly if they have the attractiveness and lovable qualities that Virginia possesses. J. H. F.

Girl Reserves; Athletic Association.

TEMPLE CRAIG MOORE

Temple is the kind of boy whom it is a pleasure to meet, an ever-increasing joy to know, and a source of deep regret to part with. F. W. P.

"If "Temp" manages his business, etc. hereafter as he managed the G. P. grid team, he'll be a success. J. H. C.

"Temp!" Nuff sed. A. A. W.

Harwood Literary Society; Athletic Association.

NAOMI AYDELOTTE MORRIS

Naomi's friendship is worth while gaining. She has the qualities of a true Marshallite. D. E. C.

You have missed a good deal if you haven't known Naomi. C. K. B.

We prophesy that in your own quiet way, you will attain success in whatever you attempt. C. E. C.

Senior French Society; Eleven-Eights Club; Athletic Association.

BEATRICE EARLE MORRISSETT

Bee—a flash of color, irrepressible spirits, a true Marshallite, and a staunch friend. W. E. W.

Mischief sparkles from her eyes when she flashes her roguish smile. A. W. B.

Bee's friendliness and frankness have won her many loyal friends. F. J. R.

Eleven-Eights Club; Senior French Society; Girl Reserves; Class of Drama; Athletic Association.

BRUCE ARCHER MORRISSETTE

On penserait, en le regardant, qu'il expliquât les mystères étranges et profonds de l'univers, mais quand il ouvre la bouche, il ne dit que: "Quel timon!" E. B. P.

Il chérie une grande illusion de la vie; c'est que quelque jour il pourra . . . . . mais demandez-le-lui, peut-être il vous le dira; peut-être que non—c'est une énigme, que Bruce. M. A. B.

Class of Drama; "Record" Staff; "Marshallite" Staff; L' Atome D'Or.

GEORGE EDMONDSON MORTON

George possesses a character envied by many; one with sincerity in deed, honesty in word and thought, and a befitting gravity in achievement.

M. A. T.

He is a good pal, possessing all the qualities that make a real man.

W. J. R.

His rare ability reveals itself in his every act. M. L. R.

NANCY G. MOSELEY

Nancy, a true and sincere friend,
Never quits a task until the end.

H. L. W.

Perfect is her dark brown hair,
Perfect most of all her smile.

F. W. H.

Pretty brown eyes, original wit, and a captivating charm are among Nan's many qualities—she is one in a million.

T. K. M.

Athletic Association.

FRANK J. MOSER

If you do not know Frank you have missed John Marshall's most intriguing personality. R. M. K.

F-Friendly
R-Reliable
A-Ambitious
N-Natural
K-Kind. L. F. T.

First in work, first in fun, first in the hearts of us all. R. L. P.

EDGAR ALLEN NOEL

There's a boy at our school who is wondrously wise! The difficulty is that he cannot make his teachers see it.

E. A. C.

Edgar is undoubtedly:
Homely, awkward, uncouth, dumb, unsympathetic, illiterate, unfriendly, forward, a poor student, and the bane of every teacher's existence, absent-minded, cruel, and unsociable. J. L. H.

Enough has been said. M. R. P.

FLORINE L. NOLDE

The tiniest of friends is Florine. She is ever ready to make her knowledge serve others. She is a sincere, lovable, and true companion. E. M. B.

We love Florine because of her sweet disposition. S. H.

Florine: Sober, quiet, pensive, and demure.
One of those friends of whom you're sure.
R. C. S.

FREDERICK RUDOLPH NOLDE

When years have passed, we shall not need to blow the dust from our "Marshallite" to remember Rudolph, whose original jokes have passed many long hours happily away. L. M. S.

His appreciation of humor and love of fun have meant much to us whose friendship he has won. G. R. M.

Athletic Association; Forum Club.

JANE CARNEAL O'FLAHERTY

"From the crown of her head to the sole of her foot, she is all mirth."
J. E. T.

With a smile and a heart full of laughter, Jane radiates sunshine on all who cross her way. E. W. E.

A sense of humor and an appreciation of the beautiful combine to give Jane an outstanding personality. F. L. P.

Girl Reserves; Dramatic Club; Van Vort Debating Society; Secretary Sophomore Class.

T. CARLTON OVERTON

Don't be misled by his teasing—he's as fine a fellow as you'll find anywhere.
F. L. P.

Such persistence merits a just reward.
M. A. S.

A man after his own heart, but he'd rather a girl were after it. E. T. C.

INA ALLENE PACE

A smiling countenance and a steadfast heart make Allene a real friend to all. C. E. A.

Blessed with a sunny and lovable disposition, Allene is liked by everyone. E. L. F.

Friendly, optimistic, and charming—that's Allene. K. E. L.

Athletic Association; Dramatic Club; Girl Reserves.

H. CLYDE PACE

Clyde is a business-like, clever-headed chap. L. S.

There is a merry twinkle of mischief in his brown eyes at all times. J. B.

"That remarkable bashfulness which is a cloak that muffles merriment. L. S.

Track Squad '26; Athletic Association.

GEORGE PACE

"G. Pace," as his friends call him, is so full of mischief and fun that one can see it shining in his eyes. M. E. T.

Six feet of good humor and friendship. W. K. V., JR.

George's originality and cleverness are not due to the pursuit of studies, but to his insatiable curiosity. R. E. B.

Athletic Association.

SIDNEY GREY PAGE

A personal smile and a smiling personality! R. A.

Every man has his fault and honesty is Sid's. W. R.

A long "Page" in John Marshall history. K. R.

Captain Company E Cadet Corps; Judge Advocate Honor Court; Dramatic Club; Athletic Association.

NELLIE GENEVIEVE PALMORE

Nellie is sincere and true
Do we all love her?
I'll say we do. E. M. B.

With her winning ways and sweet disposition, she has won many friends. R. R.

Here's to Nellie—A combination of seriousness and frivolity. May she be as successful in later life as she has been in John Marshall! H. D. T.

LILLIAN PANOSSIAN

Ever willing Lillian with her pretty eyes
Is always filling life with some new surprise. G. R. M.

Lillian is a true pal and the kind of friend one doesn't often find. C. A. P.

May life never darken Lillian's sunny disposition! E. L. M.

Van Vort Debating Society; Class of Drama; Athletic Association; Senior French Society.

JULIA PARKINSON

In spite of her somewhat reserved appearance, Julia is fairly bursting with vivacity. A. P. B.

Graceful, and at ease, Julia glides smilingly through life. R. A. J.

Julia, with her captivating smile and rhythmic gestures, is the gypsy type at its best. R. M. B.

FRANCES A. PARRISH
"SNOOKS"

"She is gentle, she is shy,
But there's mischief in her eye."
H. B. T.

"Snooks" is a brown-haired, brown-eyed bundle of joy and comradeship, a conversationalist worth listening to, an excellent housekeeper, but most important, a keeper of hearts. B. M. H.

May the world make her as happy as she has made us! V. M. M.

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; Junior French Society.

LUCIA PATTESON

Lucia goes from one extreme to another: from her head to her feet. Both, however, she uses with equal skill. M. E. P.

Lucia Patterson, the very quintessence of capability. M. A. S.

Seldom do we see anyone with such enthusiasm, cheerfulness, and wit as Lucia. E. R. A.

Athletic Association; Pep Club; Girl Reserves.

MARGARET PAUL
"PEGGY"

Quietness, kindheartedness, and humor characterize Margaret. M. B. G.

Peggy is the little girl with the big heart; both little girls and big hearts are in great demand. T. L. H.

Quiet and reserved, Peggy gives the impression of waters that run deep; she is a jester in disguise. W. E. W.

VIRGINIA GUY PAYNE

Who doesn't know "Toots" with her combination of demureness and real enjoyment of every bit of fun that strays her way? M. C. T.

"Tootsie" is kept quite busy with the "Bootsies," nevertheless she has time for a cheery smile. M. U. H.

"Toots" will never be pinched for speeding! V. S. H.

President of Bootsie Club; Dramatic Club; Athletic Association.

MARGUERITE VERNETT PETTIS
"PET"

We love her for her bright blue eyes and for her sunny smile, but best for her fine character. M. E. S.

As merry as a sunbeam that shines from skies of blue.
Always kind and friendly, e'er sincere and true. M. L. C.

Jolly, kind, and ever loyal—that's Marguerite. G. C. H.

MARY PHAUP

Mary Phaup is very quiet, but her sweetness speaks for her. J. N. C.

We all know Mary, and love her for her smile. A. L. R.

Mary will always be remembered in old J. M. for her quiet, winning attractiveness. M. M. D.

Athletic Association.

FLORENCE LORRAINE PHILLIPS
"FLOSSIE"

She has too much sense to be conceited. I. M. P.

Who doesn't know "Flo" with her bewitching smile, eyes of devilment, and a cheery word for everyone? "Flo" is a real friend sharing one's joys and sorrows — and everyone treasures her friendship. K. R.

How can we help loving such bubbling jollity? R. L. H.

"Record" Staff; "Bootsie" Club Reporter; Class of Drama; Van Vort Debating Society; Girl Reserves; Harwood Literary Society; Athletic Association.

JACK PHILLIPS

When he blinks those mischievous eyes, he finds a way into any heart. J. M.

They do come in larger packages, but none came any nicer. M. J.

Jack has been an asset to John Marshall since he has been here, and we shall hate to see him leave us. F. W.

Cadet Corps '24, '25; Boys' Chorus; Athletic Association; Junior Spanish Society '25.

WILLIS PILKINTON

If, as Virgil says, versatility is a reason for premature death, we fear for thee, Willis. H. R. S.

Success is a gift of the gods—and Willis is their favorite child. S. F. S.

Willis is attractively endowed with many qualities, which are enviable and invaluable. B. I. L.

Athletic Association.

FRANCES JULIA PLEASANT

The spirit of humor finds a happy hunting ground in the heart of Frances. R. M. L.

She is full of fun and pep, and is a very valuable link in any chain of friendship. E. B.

Frances is artistic in an appreciative way, and friendly that way too. She does not ask—she gives. S. P.

Girl's High School Club; Athletic Association.

CAROLEASE ANNETTE POLLARD

"Snub" is a most enchanting and delightful conversationalist; a friend of that type is invaluable. T. H. G.

Her easy-going way and happy, dimpled smile brighten life for her friends. S. V. H.

Sporty, jolly, and full of glee,
She's just the girl she ought to be.
M. D. D.

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

DOROTHY VERNON PRIDDY

"Oh I'm so thrilled!" That's Dorothy's password. It may be attributed to that most important letter which she received yesterday or else to the telephone call. "Dot" seems never to descend to earth. We describe her as a witty, attractive girl. R. S. E.

Athletic Association; President Felix Club; Harwood Literary Society.

THELMA PUCKETT

She's demure and retiring, but we know that Thelma is a steadfast friend. L. P.

Studiousness, congeniality, and smiles make her a friend more valuable than the rarest of gems. R. E.

The best kind of a girl, the finest chum, a friend always! T. H.

EDWARD MOSBY PULLIAM

Attention! Here comes that good-looking first Lieutenant of "A" Co. W P. V.

He is full of fun and always in for a good time. T. E. D.

He certainly can be relied upon in times of necessity. A. S. E.

Hi-Y Club; Cadet Corps; Honor Court; Forum Club.

ELLEN GLENNA PURCELL

To see her is to love her,
And love but her forever,
For nature made her what she is,
And ne'er made such another. H. R.

Here's to Glenna with the happy smile,
May fortune follow her through many a mile. T. B.

Her jolly ways make happy days. L. G.

ANNIE MINTA PURYEAR

Annie is a true blue friend, and oh! so sympathetic. M. E. T.

Annie is one of those people you just delight to have for a friend, because she's what so many people aren't—an honest-to-goodness chum. M. V. S.

RICHARD WINGFIELD QUARLES

If ever he seems unsympathetic, he is hiding his congenial soul. He won't go back on you. C. K. B.

A smile as perpetual as Time is symbolic of Richard's geniality and happy disposition. B. I. L.

"Dick's" motto is, "Too low they build who build beneath the stars." E. T. C.

Marshall Debating Society; Athletic Association.

JAMES DONALD RAWLINGS

Don is one of these people who can do serious things with the proper leaven of merriment. A. A. W.

Bene confecit. W. H. B.

There's something the world calls grit, and this man has lots of it.
R. E. C.

"Marshallite" Staff; Class of Drama; Lieutenant in Cadet Corps; Athletic Association.

THOMAS R. REEVES

T. Rosser thinks little of write-ups. Therefore he has none. He doesn't need it! X. Y. Z.

Vice-President Hi-Y.

THOMAS REDD

Tommy's excellent character and good nature is increased by his wit. G. B.

Tom makes a lot of noise just like a Ford; but he runs on a chassis, built of industry, intelligence, friendliness, and good nature. W. B. E.

Short and snappy; always happy.
M. B.

Athletic Association; Dramatic Club; Harwood Literary Society.

ALMA REAMS

Alma's smiles always mean true friendships. E. E. F.

Loyal-hearted, kind, and true,
A sweeter girl we never knew.
E. M. C.

Here comes Alma in a puff,
Always bringing fun enough.
V. L. W.

NATALIE V. REUBEN

Nobility of soul is sometimes hidden behind a modest wall of fashion.
B. I. L.

A sense of humor is a saving grace, and when it is combined with good sportsmanship and true friendliness, it makes that perfectly charming personality that we call Natalie. E. J. A.

Naive; Attractive; Thoughtful.
R. M. K.

Athletic Association; Class of Drama; Girls' High School Club; Reporter of Forum Club; Vice-President of Van Vort Debating Society; Senior French Society.

EDWIN RICE

Here is a lad of ability; a good student, and true friend. J. E. V.

As a friend he is tried and true,
Always ready with a will to do.
J. E. V.

Our days are better lighted by his smiles than by the Sun. E. H. C.

GERTRUDE RICE

Sparkling-eyed Gertrude is a ray of sunshine for our darkest days.
J. E. M.

Her moods are as changeable and as beautiful as an opal. A. J. M.

This world would be a more wonderful place in which to live, if there were more wee bits of femininity bubbling over with joy. S. L. C.

J. M.'s Club; Girl Reserves; Home Economics Club; Athletic Association; Dramatic Club.

ELIZABETH RICHARDSON

Brown hair, laughing eyes
Always ready to spring a surprise.
Full of pep, full of fun,
Can keep step with anyone.
She laughs at your jokes,
And cries at your sorrows,
Studies her books,
And returns what she borrows.
That's Bess. H. S.

Bess is sweet as she can be
With this I think you'll all agree.
M. E.

French Society; Athletic Association.

SARAH ANNE RICHARDSON

Beautiful, demure, sincere—adjectives modifying Anne!

And hers shall be the breathing balm
And hers the silence and the calm
Of mute, incentive things.

With grace to win,
With heart to hold.

ROSE MAY RICHEY

Rose May is a tried and true friend; a smiling optimist, and a good Marshallite. L. A. W.

We love Rose May, because of her sweet and happy disposition. S. H.

When you have left us, you will still remain dear to the hearts of all your friends. May they be remembered by you! C. K. B.

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves; Basketball Varsity Squad '24 and '25.

ROBERT W. ROBERSON

Robert has the reputation of being a public speaker, musician, and a ladies' man. M. V. H.

Robert is the reason for much of the attention showered on the band by the fair sex. J. H. C.

Never overlooked, but always looked over by the girls. C. R.

First Sergeant Cadet Corps; Honor Court; Dramatic Club; Athletic Association.

HELEN VIRGINIA ROBINS
"PEGGY"

"Peg's" optimism, loyalty, and eternal pep account for her popularity. E. R.

Wise except when otherwise;
Good except when bad;
Studious once in a great, great while
But never, never sad. D. Y.

Dum vivimus, vivamus. D. W.

High School Club; Junior French Society; Girl Reserves; Athletic Association.

JAMES NORMAN ROBINSON

Those of the quiet, persistent disposition will win favor in the sight of man —and such is Jimmy. M. L. R.

He has much sense as well as nonsense. G. E. M.

Sometimes he is wise; sometimes, otherwise. W. J. R.

ESTHER LILLIAN ROSEN

Esther is a real specimen of the weaker sex, but oh, how she surpasses the average one in ability and cleverness! H. R. E.

A smile for all, a greeting glad,
A lovable, jolly way she had.
R. C. S.

A maiden good without pretense,
Blest with reason and common sense
E. G.

Senior Spanish Society.

FRED ROSS

Fred's seriousness belies his countenance so much that we doubt if he is ever serious at all. B. E. M.

Fred is a staunch backer. He works hard at everything that he attempts.
J. W. B.

His pals will always remember him as a loyal friend and a good cadet.
J. P. R.

WILLIAM F. ROSS

William's wit, humor, and charm compel one to become his friend.
G. M. R.

Thy pathway is among the stars.
W. H. B.

William is usually very quiet; this cannot be proven in his Trig. class.
E. S. S.

"Marshallite" staff; "Record" Staff; Class of Drama;

SELMA R. ROTHSCHILD

An intelligent mind and a helping hand make Selma a good student and a desired friend. F. L. P.

Her ways are ways of quietness with depths of sincerity. M. V. S.

They are gifted who have both wit and wits. M. E. T.

Athletic Association; Girls' High School Club; Van Vort Debating Society, Reporter "Record" Staff; Class of Drama; Senior French Society.

GORDON M. RYLAND

This face has something good behind it;
Lift the mask and you will find it.
W. F. R.

Gordon is a winsome lad who has literally "broken" his way into the hearts of his fellow Marshallites.
T. C. M.

Into our midst this wee lad came;
And cheerfully has he made his fame.
H. R. S.

SOLOMON SACKS

The boy who smiles at defeat,
Knows only to press on and never retreat. R. C. S.

In the years to come he wants this to be said: "Old Sol was the beater of the bass drum in the John Marshall Band." R. C. S.

CARY SANFORD

Cary is a quiet and studious boy with an innocent appearance; but when one comes to the finish, he's right there.
L. M. K.

Cary is indeed a very true friend. Anything that he has, he is willing to share with others. R. E. H.

LOUISE SANFORD

Louise, in acquiring friends, always wins—
We just wish that she were twins!
G. R. M.

Sweet, attractive, wholesome
Ernest, sometimes too,
That is Louise Sanford,
Louise, here's to you! J. E. T.

A splendid character mingled with a keen enjoyment of the fun of life is our Louise. M. V. S.

Athletic Association; Girls Reserve; Dramatic Club; Senior French Society.

THOMAS LONG SARVAY

Tommy, one of our most efficient first sergeants, is certainly one of whom we are proud. A. S. E.

Tommy is quiet, but he is handsome and a good mixer. H. W. C.

Just wait until Tommy gets started; he isn't as quiet as he appears. We wish him much success in life. F. A. W.

First Sergeant Cadet Corps.

RAYMOND C. SAUNDERS
"RAY"

The easy-going Raymond,
With his ever-ready smile,
Is always up to something,
And it usually is worth-while.
A. V. A.

During Ray's stay at John Marshall, he has won the admiration of all by his happy-go-lucky smile and his pleasing manner. C. L. B.

Forum Club; Athletic Association.

LOUIS ALBERT SCHNEIDER, JR.

He is never sulky; he is never glum:
If High School has a secret, about it he'll be mum. H. V.

Louis is more often seen than heard, but when he does speak, one hears real thought. R. S. L.

Since you speak so convincingly of fishing, we all wish we could be with you when you're absent. K. R.

Cadet Corps; Forum Club.

ISADORE A. SCHWARTZ

Geniality and worthiness never blended to make a more promising product.
B. I. L.

If Isadore's as successful in life as he he is in school, he will have a brilliant future. W. B.

Isadore troubles no one, gets along with the teachers, has the patience of Job, and a heart as big as a house.
W. B. E.

Cadet Corps '24, '25; P. C. V. Club.

GUS M. SCHWARZSCHILD, JR.

First in work, first in play, and first in the hearts of all. L. U. B.

"A good old pal in every way,
One not found on every day."
M. V. S.

An impetuous high school student with plenty of school spirit is Gus.
H. A.

Cadet Corps '23, '24; Class of Drama; Marshall Debating Society; Athletic Association.

JUNE SHAMLIN

June of the year is sunny and bright; so is our June of J. M. C. G.

June is one of those big-hearted people that one just has to like.
M. A. G.

"Gyp" we call her,
June is her name
Because of her laugh
She'll some day win fame.
K. P.

Athletic Association; Girl Reserves.

FAULCON SHELBURNE

The diminutiveness of Faulcon's stature has nothing to do with his capacity of mentality, accommodation, and appreciation of intelligence. M. R. P.

Although we can hardly see Shelburne in class, we know he is there by his answer to roll-call. J. E. H.

Faulcon is like those precious parcels which are done up in small packages.
A. S. L.

THOMAS SHELBURNE

If one wishes to learn the art of friendship, let him see "Tommy."
H. R. A.

Tommy has made a reputation in almost everything, especially "en francais." C. E. F.

Thomas has the ability to combine work and pleasure in just the right proportion to achieve success. O. R. B.

VIRGINIA SHEPHERD

If you ever need a friend
To laugh with you or weep,
Or ever a pal
All your secrets to keep,
Find Virginia. L. M. S.

Like a breath from the past comes modest, refined, lovable Virginia.
M. B. P.

Not too serious nor too gay, but at all times a good pal is Virginia. M. I. G.

ANNA ROBERTA SHORE

Anna has a will to do whatever is right,
A heart that's warm and a smile that's bright. A. V. C.

Friendly, smiling,
Thoughtful, true,
Is Anna to all—
Especially to you. S. H.

Because the cheer and friendliness,
You always try to spread,
I wish you comfort and success,
Through all the years ahead.
F. E. E.

Girl Reserves; Athletic Association.

E. SEWALL SIMPSON, JR.

Sewall—with big brown eyes and rosy cheeks— is always willing to lend a helping hand. X. Y. Z.

A shark on math, but when it comes to Spanish, just an ordinary fish!
M. S. S.

Characteristic of him:

Sewall: Made an 80 yesterday!
Jimmy: What—on Spanish?
Sewall: No—on golf. J. K.

CAROLYN SIMS

Carolyn can be demure and quiet,
But don't get her started for then she's a riot! R. L.

Always happy, never sad,
Best school pal I ever had.
D. E. C.

A good sport and a true friend,
As fine a pal as you ever met,
Always sunny, never funny (?)
That's Carolyn, you bet! L. S.

Girl Reserves; Senior French Society.

ELSIE SINSHEIMER

A sincere and true friend, an honest and faithful pupil, is Elsie. R. L.

Dignified, steady, faithful, and true—that's Elsie. M. A. S.

She always wears a smile; she is always willing to help. H. A. T.

HELEN SMITH

Small in stature, but large in heart;
This little maid does her part.
T. D. D.

What could be more pleasing than this pair of sparkling brown eyes and a head of brown waves? E. B. N.

There are many priceless jewels in the world, but none more precious than Helen. E. R.

WILLIAM LEWIS SMITH

How anyone can stay in such a good humor all of the time remains a mystery to us. E. W.

Esteemed as a perfect gentleman with a noble character. J. D. R.

Lewis is always dependable and trustworthy. We prophesy a bright future for him. H. C. P.

Cadet Corps; Athletic Association.

LUCILLE OLIVE SMITH

Olives are both bitter and sweet. Perhaps this is part of Lucille Olive Smith's charm. D. B. B.

One considers himself fortunate to be included among her friends. K. E. W.

We shall always remember everybody's pal—Lucille. M. B. B.

RAYMOND SMITH

His career as a debater has been an especially brilliant one. C. H. R.

As large in spirit as he is in size.
M. A. S.

Raymond is boyishly genial, mannishly serious, and especially fine in his tastes and ideals. B. I. L.

Athletic Association; Corresponding Secretary Marshall Debating Society; "Record" Staff; Marshall Hi-Y Club; Junior French Society.

RUTH CELIA SMITH

Loved by all who know her well.
Gets into mischief too often to tell.
M. L. F.

Never have I found a sweeter, dearer pal than Ruth. L. M. B.

Whole-hearted, faithful, and true blue;
A John Marshallite through and through. A. H. R.

MARIAN ELIZABETH SPIVEY

Maid Marian, with her sweet face and demure manner, has captivated us as completely as her namesake did the brave forester of old. W. B.

Bright and witty,
Likewise pretty,
Here's a health to thee!
E. L. D.

We are sorry to lose you Marian. We wish you success at every mile post on the road of life. R. T. B.

JULIAN MARTIN STANSELL

Julian, I wish you the same success in the future as in the past. K. B. A.

If Julian earns money as easily and fast as he makes friends, he will soon accumulate a vast fortune. T. R. A.

Cheerful, friendly, and smiling are the words best suited to describe Julian. P. M. A.

Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society.

FRANCES PAXTON STEELE

Popular. Why? Because she is sweet tempered, agreeable, and attractive. D. M'C. H.

Frances is the best balanced girl we know—never too sober and never too gay. E. R.

Her vivid imagination carries her to unknown heights, and makes her life one of romance. L. T.

Athletic Association; Senior French Society; Felix Club; Class of Drama.

L. HERMAN STERN

Hail, ye sages and gods of joy!
Here's another for your train.
W. H. B.

A dependable friend and an excellent sport. N. G.

In years to come, we shall not have to search for our Marshallite to recall our "cheer leader," Herman. S. A. R.

Athletic Association; Cheer Leader; Crew '26; Color Sergeant Cadet Corps.

MARGARET STONE

There is no one with a better sense of humor than our Margaret. B. W.

'Tis queer how many lovable qualities can be held in such a small person. S. H.

"Une petite mademoiselle" whose winning way is the key to all hearts. C. E. A.

M. INEZ STRANG

She has pep,
She has looks,
A great ambition,
And a love of books.

N. F. T.

"Littlebit" is no exception to the rule that the best of goods comes in small packages. S. E. M.

Here's hoping you will walk in the light of your favorite faculty friend.

A. W.

HELEN STRANGE

First as a good worker, first as a good sport, and first as a friend to her classmates. Helen is known for her fun and merrymakings. May she go through life the same happy "Felix" that all Marshallites know. D. V. P.

Athletic Association; J. M.'s Club.

ROSE CECILLE STRAUS

Rose's bright, blue, clear eyes speak of the pure heart and sincere soul of their owner. M. S. P.

Hair of brown, eyes of blue,
And a winning personality too—has Rose. P. L. C.

As sweet and lovely as the flower for which she is named—"Rose." F. L. B.

Senior French Society; Athletic Association.

MARTHA ANNE SULLIVAN

A bit of seriousness almost hidden by an exuberance of spirit. R. M. K.

A small edition of an encyclopedia.

G. R. M.

A sense of humor is a saving grace, and combined with a ready wit, a refreshing frankness, and good scholarship it makes that most delightful little person we all call Martha Anne. J. L.

Senior Spanish Society; Athletic Association; President of Class of Drama (Second Term); Imps; Van Vort Debating Society; Girl Reserves; "Record" Staff; "Marshallite" Staff; Reporter of Senior Class; Harwood Literary Society.

HARRY SWINK

Now we know what is meant by "A jolly good fellow." A. K. L.

Worlds are conquered by such fellows as Harry. Why? Just watch him persevere in his quiet way. B. O. D.

Harry's ready brisk wit and his funny stories keep a crowd in a good humor.

LULA BELLE TALLEY

Though the clouds are rolling o'er us
And the rain comes pouring down,
There is joy instead of sadness
When Lula Belle is around. M. L. C.

Laughing, smiling, always gay,
That's Lula Belle in every way.

T. L. H.

FRANCES TALMAN

"Of temper, amorous as the first of May." A. L. S.

An exception to the rule that "beauty is only skin deep." J. E T.

Very rarely does one meet a person as lovable and as winning as Frances.

E. J. A.

NAOMI FRANCES TIGNOR

As a friend sincere and true,
There is none to compare with you.
M. I. S.

"A dancing form, an image gay
To haunt, to startle, and waylay."
F. L. B.

Naomi's smile and happy manner like magnets have drawn many friends to her here in John Marshall. M. E. S.

MIRIAM ATKINS TINSLEY

Her flaming locks have been a beacon light throughout the darkest hours of school. M. D. L.

Light-hearted Miriam with her flaming hair
Is the very best pal to be found anywhere. E. L. J.

She has a sigh for those who love her
A smile for those who hate,
And whatever sky's above her
A heart for every fate.
C. E. J.

MARGARET EMMA TOLER

We all love Margaret
For she's happy and gay
With her pleasing manner
And her winning way.
E. C. L.

Personality is an indefinable quality that baffles defining. Happy the girl who possesses it—most happy Margaret!
I. M. P.

Margaret's ready smile and "hello" have made for her scores of friends.
A. M. P.

DORRIS E. TOON

"Dot," having won the love of her classmates by her charming ways, is truly a never-to-be forgotten friend.
H. H.

Jolly in ways, ambitious in spirits, frank in expression, independent in nature, pleasing in personality, and wealthy in friends. F. C.

JAMES WINSTON TREDWAY

"Jimmy" is an unfailing booster and a willing worker for old John Marshall. He meets success and failure with a smile and a determination to do better. May he find success and happiness in whatever walk of life he pursues!

HENRIETTA B. WEST

Henrietta is a sincere friend and a loyal supporter of old John Marshall.
M. R. D.

Her lovableness draws us to her as a magnet. E. G. R.

She seems as happy as a wave that dances on the sea. B. F. W.

FRANCES WHITLOCK WHARTON

Frances? Oh yes, we know her. How? By that ever ready smile that greets us all. H. L. S.

Frances has made many friends at John Marshall with her friendliness and willing ways. V. K.

A well balanced girl is Frances, intelligent, and always willing to help. A. C. J.

LEONARD WHITTEMORE

A gentleman, an actor, and a judge of good—well, everything good. W. H. B.

Leonard plays the villian on the stage perfectly, due to his ability, not to his natural tendencies; for he's a good sport and a rare friend. F. P.

Irresistible Leonard! Is it any wonder that he captivates us all? L. L. R.

ANNE WINSTON

Anne is a very sweet girl. All her friends will testify to that. R. A.

Anne remembers the "little things" that count for so much more than one thinks. F. P.

"A daughter of the Gods, divinely tall, and most divinely fair." B. W.

Bootsie Club; Senior French Society; Girl Reserves; Athletic Association; Harwood Literary Society; Dramatic Club.

FRANCES WITTERT

Frances is well known to all her Marshallite friends by her quick understanding and habitual good nature. Happiness will follow her through life because she carries happiness in her heart.

E. L. C.

"Gone but not forgotten" shall be our cry when Frances has left John Marshall. C. W.

Frances' magnetic personality has carried her successfully through High School, and we are sure it will carry her through life. E. L. H.

Senior Spanish; Junior French.

GAYNELLE ELIZABETH WOOD

Gaynelle is the girl with the serious countenance. This is just the cover, though, and no book is judged by that.
H. L. S.

"Silence is golden." To casual acquaintances Gaynelle seems reserved, but her friends find her a jolly good pal.
J. H.

Solemn and calm, but still waters run deep.
C. O. B.

ROSALIE MARION WOOD

As merry as the day is long.
M. C. L.

She possesses a heart of gold that's filled with joy, content, and friendliness.
J. R. C.

"Your sense of humor is very keen.
You always say just what you mean."
Athletic Association; Senior French Society; Girl Reserves.

TEMPLE WOOTERS

"Who's that coming down the hall?"
"That's Temp Wooters, our 'crack guard.'"

With equal parts, impish mischief and loyal friendliness, we find the result a truly interesting person or Temp.
F. J. B.

Tall and fair as a Viking is he
Who downs all gridders he happens to see.

SUE WORKMAN

Laughter sweet and low, cheerfulness, and good will, help to make Sue's lovable character. S. L. H.

We talk and she talks with us,
We stop and she talks alone.
S. E. M.

What if she does talk? It will make her famous as it did Brutus.
W. H. B.

AGNES WRIGHT

A dark haired girl with sparkling eyes,
Demure and quiet, but O, so wise!
R. M. R.

Agnes' theory—
"Silence is Golden." M. E. P.

Agnes Wright is the best friend I ever had. She is not very talkative, but I know she is always looking toward the best side of life. V. E. B.

SALLY ELIZABETH WRIGHT

Witty and smiling is the discription of our ever obliging schoolmate, Sally.
E. R. L.

"There are two sciences which every girl ought to learn; first, the science of speech; second, the more difficult one of silence." M. V. M.

To see her is to like her,
To know her is to love her.

Class Prophecy

THE following letter was found among Lady Lucie's papers at her death. Lady Lucie was formerly Miss Lucie Francis, of Virginia.

7913 Monument Avenue,
Richmond, Virginia,
August 13, 1967.

DEAR LUCIE,

I arrived home a week ago, but this is the first moment of leisure I've had. Being financially embarrassed, I had to sell my home in the West End and moved back into the dirt of town, a fact which caused me much mental anguish and physical exertion. But now, I am keeping my promise. I suppose you want to hear about my trip first. Now don't be impatient, for you shall know all in proper sequence.

On the sixth day of last March, we (that means those persons whose destination was Mars) gathered in a vast open field just outside the city limits of Chicago. It was about three o'clock in the morning, and a biting wind blew in from the lake, making us shake in our shoes. One by one, and sometimes two by two, the crowd increased. At six the sun began to rise, and at half-past, a truck load of University students arrived. Jimmy Lambeth and Leonard Whittemore came forward and began operations on a huge structure of steel towering toward the sky in the middle of the field. I learned from a by-stander that they had perfected some part of this machine and were trying to make it all faultless. They explained the mechanism of the thing to the students and then ordered that the passengers be packed in. The Thing was as tall as John Marshall is long, and how we were to get in was a mystery to me. Jimmy ordered me to follow him and swiftly began climbing a ladder, up the wall of the Thing, which I had not noticed. I followed clumsily. When nearly to the top, he opened a door that caused a little platform to jut out. He braced himself on it and lifted me into a little cotton lined compartment just as if I were a feather. He stuffed cotton all around me, stuck into my mouth a tube which he said connected with air, shut the little door, and sealed it. Imagine my feelings! And all that took only two minutes! It seemed hours, however, before all the passengers were packed.

Finally there was a great shouting below, a rattling and clanking of cables, and the Thing—I shall call it a Bullet, for that was its shape—began to rise with a jerky motion. My heart stood still a moment and then raced as if it were mad. For many moments that slow motion continued amid shouts from below. Suddenly it stopped, poised a moment in mid air, then slid quickly down—down—down! I screamed, but no one heard me. There was no one to hear. The Bullet stopped and remained stationary. I had begun to breathe again when the silence below oppressed me—A swish! A shout! The Bullet shot outward, upward, so swiftly that I can't imagine it. William Berry assures me that it's supposed to go as fast as light. It may have done so—I wouldn't swear to the contrary. Five minutes—ten—passed and the motion seemed never to slacken. My oxygen was getting low. I must breathe slowly I de—crash! Boom! Snap!!—

An age later, I found myself sitting in a mud-hole staring at a motley crowd of purple-faced citizens of Mars. Nor did their oddness end at their faces; they had green-backs! You can take that any way you choose —they use American money.

They took us to a Café which had glass show cases—the only one in Mars. They proudly pointed out the many little "niceties" (really defects) and the greenness of the glass. Then we entered. The Worlds (meaning citizens of the World) were to be guests of the Marses. They sat at marble tables, embossed in gold, and ate from silver dishes. An especially handsome waiter served our table, and he had no fingernails. I was shocked and glanced at the hands of the other Marses. None of them had fingernails! I noticed another peculiar thing. Half of them had only one eye; and none could see out of both eyes, so they said. As we talked I became conscious of a disturbance near the door. I turned in time to see Allie Kae Libby enter. "Behold, our Missionary Lady!" they cried. On every Sunday morning her hymns rise in a guttural twang from all the churches. Martha Anne Sullivan is her assistant, and her charges believe in avenging Furies, and Grecian Graces, in nymphs and dryads.

Beatrice Morrissett designs the churches; Ralph Covey builds them. Elmira Coalter teaches the women to design and make becoming hats (for they all dress well); Louise Sanford teaches the business men to read Latin verse; and Frances Talman is an example to the children.

Every June the Clergy have their Annual Dinner—all the rest of the year the evening meal is Breakfast, because only on that one day do they eat after the rising of the sun and before its setting. These dinners are absolutely necessary for the good of their Souls—very hungry Souls they are! A person of any denomination, layman or clergyman, if only he be from the World, can come. Charlie Broaddus, the Pope of the Church of Mars, presided over the table with much dignity. Mr. Nuckols, for reasons best known to himself, has become a priest. I always suspected that it was to escape marriage—you remember the bevies of girls he had to contend with even at high school. His black robes are very dignified and becoming—deceptive, too!

I visited at a session of the "Union of the Ladies of Cunipeg in the Planet of Mars, Ordained for the Purpose of converting our Lesser Sisters to the Faith." I asked what Faith it was—the president with great personal injury saved my life. As I was saying, the work is wonderfully organized. First the committee visits the home of a wealthy sister—Ann is the chairman of the committee, and Charlotte and Liz complete it. They praise the texture of the mud floor, the beautiful marble mosaics, her lovely silver—but they bemoan her windows. What a pity she has only diamonds for windowpanes. Mrs. Van Raalt had some of the prettiest green glass put in her windows to replace the diamonds, pretty, green glass of the kind from which Coca-Cola Bottles are made on the Earth. So cheap, too. Only a thousand a window, and the diamonds removed from it.

Later on in the week, the Committee of Five calls on the unfortunate Mrs. Smythe—Correna and Corolan, in addition to the committee. Mrs. Smythe decides that she wants the diamonds in eight windows replaced by glass.

I haven't been able to decide whether this scheme is Ann's invention or her husband's. It might be that of any of the other four of the Committee or of their husbands. At any rate, Charles Freeman, Archie Hannah, Harris Woodson, Louis Miller, and Jack Gary profit from the business of their wives. President Earle Cooke even mentioned a special income tax for them last year.

Do you remember going with me to see Les Heureuses the last time I was in London? No one could find out anything about the troupe, you know, and theirs was the most popular act of the season. Well, in April I discovered that troupe, under a different name to be sure, but I would know that plaintive music and weird acting anywhere. The personnel and owners are William Berry, Hilton Rufty, and Bruce Morrissette. William does the difficult acting, sometimes taking as many as twelve parts in one evening. His lightning-like changes are little short of miraculous. One evening I saw him play six characters as different from one another as it is possible for characters to be. First he was Jester to the King, impudent, daring—he danced Tauraufata with amazing skill and understanding; he smiled the foolish, empty smile of an innocent. He turned a sommersault off the stage, and one and one-half minutes later he came on as an humble hermit-priest, quoting scripture and telling his beads. The whole expression of his face had changed. A quarter of an hour later, he was a dangerous man, twirling his cane, playing with his moustache, ruining the reputation of a country girl. Suddenly he was a sodden drunkard, gambling for a living, and swiftly forming the opium habit. Later he was a gentle prince, loved and revered by his people for his kindness and piety. Lastly, he appeared as a teacher in a boys' school near London.

Hilton composes the music for the performances. I think it is just as wonderful as the drama. I can always get an idea of the next scene by listening to the music. I honestly believe I could listen to his playing twenty-four hours of the day and never tire of it. He designs the scenery, too, and didn't you adore it? The colors here are even more exotic than they were when you saw him. His wife, formerly Margaret Pumphrey, creates the dances and plans all costumes for the women. They quarrel just as much now as they did at High School. One day when I was dining with them, he declared that he was positive she had put Fido (the cat) into the soup. She threw her wedding ring at him and swore she would leave him forever. Of course, she didn't.

Bruce Morrissette—well, what can I say of Bruce? His talent beggars description. His poetry in its on-rushing phrases reminds me of Dante. Oh, his poetry is as good as William's acting or Hilton's music. He writes all the plays they present, and he manages the business end, having common sense as well as artistic temperament. Bruce is a jewel —une bijou!

I met Gladys Massei on Broad Hill. We were mutually glad at the meeting. She invited me to visit her "Home," putting a strange accent on the word. I went. It was an old rambling building such as one sometimes sees in Boston. I became homesick at once. As I drew nearer, I saw a number of middle-aged ladies on the wide veranda. Suddenly I recognized them as Julia Thompson, Louise Hutzler, Mildred Montgomery, Margaret Toler, Thelma Hobson, Katherine Gunn, and Lily Taylor. All had crooked noses (broken by violent impact with stone walls in some experiment or other), and were busily knitting little things which resembled babies' socks. They were, however, coverings for blind kittens.

After tea I arose to leave. At the door I saw a group of men. All were bowing their heads, yelling "Horses, Horses," at the top of their lungs, and smiling. "Horses, Inez!" sang one.

"He means 'hello,'" whispered Gladys.

I stared, amazed. What were these strange men?—but they were not strange. They were Billy Ross, Bosworth Hulcher, Reno Porter, Claude Batkins, and Tommy Redd! Quite an assemblage of noble souls!

"They're from the insane asylum next door—"

"But we ain't insane—"

"Though they think we are!" answered the chorus of male voices.

I hurried to leave, but was forced to accept as mementos of the trip:

a picture of Billy Ross,
a lock of Bosworth's hair, tied in purple string,
a button from Reno's shirt,
a corner of Claude's handkerchief,

And (Horrors!)

Tommy's fingernail.

Even the theatres in Mars are overrun with pictures from the World. I saw an old, old news reel, the wedding of Eleanor Hasbrouck and Donald Rawlings. In the background I saw some reporters, and guess who they were. Emma Mallory, James Gunter, James Chenery, and Charles Robertson!

Did you ever in your wildest dreams visualize them as reporters?

Do you think Rose Kaufman and Abe Eisen would want such write-ups as this for their magazines? Rose is now editor of The Ladies Home Journal, and Abe of The Mentor. By the way, another of our classmates is editor of Life—Jane O'Flaherty!

Write to me soon and recount all the London gossip. I need some for my new book.

Affectionately,

INEZ.

P. S.—You know it always was a habit of mine to write three post-scripts to a letter. Well, it still is.

In the first place, Frances Givens has just been offered professorship of Romance languages at Columbia. Will she accept?

Katherine Rowe sails Monday. She's our new Ambassador to the British Empire. Kiss her for me if you see her. Margaret Johnston has just been appointed to some diplomatic office in France. I couldn't see to read the article thru.

Virginia Buckley's new book, "Snoots," has not been so successful as her former one. It has been thru only four editions this month. Such is life!

I. M. P.

2nd P. S.—I met Rogers Armitage at a tea while I was in Mars. I forgot to tell it when I was talking about Mars, but you won't "flunk"

my letter, will you? She and Lora Lee Robinson are studying living-conditions preparatory to painting masterpieces which will be studies of homelife. Rogers has begun her canvas, and it looks promising, but Lora Lee dances her nights away, wastes her days in sleeping, and spends her afternoons chez Mlle. Virginia Gill, Modiste. She says that Virginia's hats are divine, and I hear that they are contemplating partnership.

Have you read Rosser Reeve's latest poetical publications? He calls it "Mélanges." Clever, n'est-ce pas? It is whispered that his little piece on the critic is a characterization of Ruffin Winfree who certainly tore apart Rosser's "Five Fools Foreswore." I think though that this is not probable, for Ruffin is not so cynical nor harsh as Rosser's critic. His "stenog" reminds me of Ann Woodfin; Ann, the witty, vivacious, and funny! Do you remember the comic strip that used to appear in the "Richmond Times Dispatch" called "Tillie, the Toiler"? Well, Ann is an aged Tillie. She still has many admirers, and recently at a Bazaar of Old Dances, she performed the Black Bottom with vim and pep.

Mary Tatum has bought and is operating "The Globe" on Broadway. Her special chums are taking part in the Follies along with a few other members of New York's "Who's Who." All these worthy matrons have grown fat, so they spend their time warning their granddaughters to take reducing exercises in time to save their figures—"A stitch in time," you know. The most conspicuous dancers were Connie Robinson, Mildred Pullen, Florence Phillips, Alice Frix, Virginia Ivey, Clara Miles Burton, Margaret Leake, Dorothy Evans, and Ruth Harris. You ought to have read Tommy Duke's review of the performance. He declared that Mrs. Bernard Acree (Clara Miles, you know), "leader of New York's aristocratic society, danced her way into our hearts as she did into Mr. Acree's a few years ago."

I. M. P.

3rd P. S.—Did you know that John Stevenson, Ebby Ruffin, Gibbie Holt, and Dutchy Wrenn, having made their respective fortunes, have at last united their efforts in all things? They have dubbed themselves "The Questionable Quartette" (T. Q. Q.). Believe me, their sanity is questionable!

The first venture of the T. Q. Q. was to build a Residence, a home, on a palatial scale. First they deposited all their money in the bank under the name *T*homas *Q*uincy *Q*uater—T. Q. Q.! Then Mr. Quater in co-laboration with three friends drew plans for a home and gave them to a contractor. Gibbie Holt, of course, is T. Q. Quater, since he has great business ability. The house has five suites of rooms, one for each of the men, and one for all of them. There is a regiment of servants not including the chauffeurs. Each of the owners has a dozen or so cars—all forty-eight are of different makes, and all seem to be common property. This is the first workable Utopia of which I've ever heard. It was rather lucky for John and Ebby—they had no money at all previous to this arrangement.

Aren't you sorry we've declared war on China? I guess Rose Goodman will be commissioned to manage the home training camps. She's good.

I. M. P.

Two hours later.

Let me quote the latest news bulletin from China: "Misses Winifred La Prade and Margaret Barlow, dreading war with China, appeared before the Emperor this morning and put up this proposition to him: If they with their music could move him to tears and then cause him to laugh again, he was to apologize to our government and thus prevent the war. The Emperor takes pride in his stoicism; in fact, he is so stoical that nine hundred and ninety-nine people of a thousand consider him inhuman. Of course, such a man accepted such a proposition. The piano was brought near the throne; Miss La Prade began tuning her violin; the Emperor raised his eye-brows. Finally all was ready; the room was quiet, waiting. Soft music floated in the air—floated from nowhere. It danced a bit, but a sad haunting melody ran through it, like a blue thread woven into a bolt of white cloth. The dancing stopped, and shadows like premonitions of evil darkened the atmosphere. A storm was gathering. You felt the lightning, and a grumble of thunder came from the piano. The grumbling increased. The storm lashed its fury on everybody present. The violin threw out wails and shrieks of human beings in anguish —Suddenly, the Emperor rushed down from his throne, weeping like a little boy.

"The tension lessened; the storm calmed; the winds died. The waves broke evenly on the shore. The birds began to twitter, and a cow mooed from a distance. You could almost smell the fresh, green odor of a revived earth. A milkmaid hummed a tune—the Emperor laughed with relief.

"There will be no war."

I shall see you at Christmas.

The Old Annual

The laughing, mocking years had thrown
A wreath of white about his brow;
The fire of youth had dimmed and gone,
And in its place were ashes now;
The shoulders that had scorned the world
Had humbly bowed to chilling age;
Each long past day of sparkling life
Was but a mildewed, dim-writ page.

Gone were the friends of years ago
That once with him had dared the race;
They slept the sleep that angels know
And madder souls had seized their place;
His aged memory tried to grasp
And form those faces from his prime;
Elusive shadows came and laughed,
Their very visage lost in time.

Then gentle chance before him laid
A dusty book, which time had tanned;
The yellow, musty pages shook
To feel again a human hand;
Thank God! His tired eyes were wet,
His heart was full, and memory's rays
Made light his soul,—before him lay
The faces of his High School Days.

Each ancient picture was a trove
That seemed to ban his hoary age;
Each scribbled name upon the leaves
The Midas' touch upon the page;
Only a book, but it made live
Those cherished friends long in the sod,
And smiling sent a dying soul
To meet his Maker, and his God.

JUNIOR CLASS

Junior Class

Junior Class Admirer: "Information, please. Hello! Hello! Could you tell me the telephone number of the Junior Class of John Marshall High School on Marshall Street between Eighth and Ninth Streets?"

Information: "One moment, please . . . . We have a phone in that name whose number is A No. 1."

Junior Class Admirer: "Hello, Central. Give me A No. 1."

Central: "Here's your party."

J. C. A.: "Is this the office of the Junior Class? I'd like a little information on who's who in this class, just what you are doing and hope to do. You say you started off with a bang? Well, who are your officers? One minute, please, until I write this down."

Junior Class Publicity Manager: "There's no need to tell you that this class has pep when you learn that Miss Ragland is our sponsor, that our president is Pleasants Bagby, just the one to fill the bill; our Vice-President, Mary Kirk, capable although a social butterfly; our Secretary, Eleanor Hardaway, a delightful combination of business and fun; and our Treasurer, Sherrard Parrish, little but—oh my! Our Reporter is Tommy Toone. 'The New York Times' is after him already."

J. C. A.: "Can you tell me anything of your meetings?"

J. C. P. M.: "Our meetings are always snappy and are held every other week. One a month is given over to business, while the other is social. Several delightful one-act plays have been given by the members of the class."

J. C. A.: "How about the activities of the class?"

J. C. P. M.: "We gave a dance Christmas with a good attendance, and everyone seemed to have a "dizzy" time. We are going to give the dignified Seniors a dance near Easter. Junior Stunt Night is to be held in the spring. If it isn't a success, it won't be because we haven't tried."

J. C. A.: "Thank you so much for your information about your class. Good luck to you!"

J. C. P. M.: "Just watch us next year when we are Seniors. It is our aim to be the best class that ever graduated from old J. M.—you know 'Hitch your wagon to a star.' Goodbye!"

Will-o'-the-Wisp

Phantom of my dreams,
  Mocking my desires,
Illusive like the gleams
  Of frail, ephemeral fires.

Cunningly evading
  My futile, groping hands,
Guiding me and leading
  To distant, foreign lands.

Dancing just before me
  In a tantalizing way;
Shining in the night to be,
  Pale temptress in the day.

You are Ambition, feeding
  My vanity and pride.
You are Desire, leading
  Me against Life's seething tide.

Some day I fear I'll reach afar
  And grasp you in my hand;
And then—I'll find that you are
  A mirage in the sand.

For you will blow to dust,
  Fade from glimmering fire
To red ashes and red rust,
  And thus will end Desire.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The Sophomore Class

NWARD, Sophomores! Remember we are only in our second year. We must carry with us the memory of the good times and good training we have had. Two hikes, a party, and a Christmas dance have kept us going. Maybe we did get back from the hikes or parties with sore feet or sleepy eyes, but we have surely had some grand old times. Enthusiasm has been aroused by means of a contest for the purpose of getting new members. The losing side gave the winning side a party. And such a party!

We have had more than enough fun to last through the summer, so when we become Juniors we shall be ready and willing to get down to work and show every one how easy it is to perform miracles when all work together. Miss Shelton, our sponsor, has played a very important part in getting us into form. She took us over when we knew scarcely anything about class organization. Now we know many things as a result of her teaching. The officers, also, have worked together faithfully and earnestly.

Our officers are the following:

President	AMERIGO ADORNI
Vice-President	ALICE TODD
Secretary	KITTY LEE
Treasurer	MILLER HUGHES
Reporter	GRACE PEATROSS
Historian	BEN GARRETT

Sophomores, let us always keep this training in class spirit in mind, and as a result come out of every scrap with colors flying.

A Recollection of John Marshall

The end has come; as come it must
To everything: In sweet June days
We part from friends so dear and true
To go through life in separate ways.

Can we forget those years gone by?
Those four short-lived and fleeting years.
We learned to think, to love, to play.
To heave a sigh, to shed a tear.

The happy joy that filled your halls
Comes back to me, in bands
Of golden, tender memories
Woven beneath your guiding hands.

Ah, I would offer any price
To be back at that place again!

Freshman Class

Freshman Class History

WE "RATS" certainly have much to be thankful for this year! We came to John Marshall with fear and trembling, but the upper classmen were not quite so barbarous as we had expected.

Many terrible nights were spent in dreaming of our fate in coming here. We thought perhaps we should be set on a water fountain or put in the coal-bin; but although this may have been the fate of others, it was not ours.

We first elected our sponsor, Miss Gill, and then the officers. But even before the officers were elected, every Freshman had to hand over his pennies, numbering twenty-five, to get into the class. Since then, we've had many good times, and we are planning for more. You'll hear from us in the future!

The Ruby-Throated Humming Bird

Flashing like a sparkling jewel
O'er the larkspur and the rose,
Fairest little flying creature
That the nature lover knows;
Green and red and white and orange,
Breasted with the softest gray,
Sipper of the flower's nectar,
Smallest in the land, they say.

Swings a cushioned, downy cradle,
Where the lichen helps conceal;
Every tiny, perfect feather,
Every ruby jewel—real.
Like a bee upon a flower,
Dwarfed beside a honey pod,
Just a bit of beauty flying
For the glory of his God.

CLUBS

Senior French Society

What a variety of clubs we have! Le Cercle Bagatelle with its motto "Chansons!"; Les Vauriens, who, although "ils n'ont pas encore inventé la poudre," promise to be and do "quelque chose de bon" before they leave the stage; Les Cabotins, who modestly style themselves "sans éclat"; Les Farceurs, who give as their "raison d'etre," "Pour rire et pour travailler"; La Petite Académie Francaise of some thirty or so mortals trying to copy the forty immortals of the great Academy; Les Petits Navaires sur la Mer du Francais set sail most valiantly and are now "au large en pleine vapeur"; lastly, Les Champignons have announced as their slogan "Nous croissons vite."

Le Cercle Francais

Since its beginning Le Cercle Français has progressed in every way until its influence in John Marshall has become very far reaching.

Although the great aim of Le Cercle Français is to help its members acquire a knowledge and familiarity with the language as it is spoken, it also gives a great deal of pleasure.

Our high ideals and commendable accomplishments destine this society to live forever in the minds of its members; and when they have carved their niche in the Hall of Fame, they will point back to their early training begun in this society.

Our past record speaks for itself, and we hope to accomplish as much if not more in the years to come.

Vive le Cercle Français!

Senior Spanish Society

The Senior Spanish Society has caught the true Castillian spirit and has profited much by the study of the old world customs of the Spaniards. Many delightful plays in Spanish have been produced and all of the meetings have proved instructive as well as refreshingly gay.

Junior Spanish Society

Right bravely did we set out on the sea of culture, but we soon became so engrossed in pretending we were "Los Pequeñitos Españoles" that we forgot to bother about storms and pitfalls. "Los Galgos Españoles" (Clementi's Spanish Hounds) have added much to the wit and entertainment of the society. Although we are very young, we hope some day to "rate" the lofty position of Senior Spanish!

Marshall Debating Society

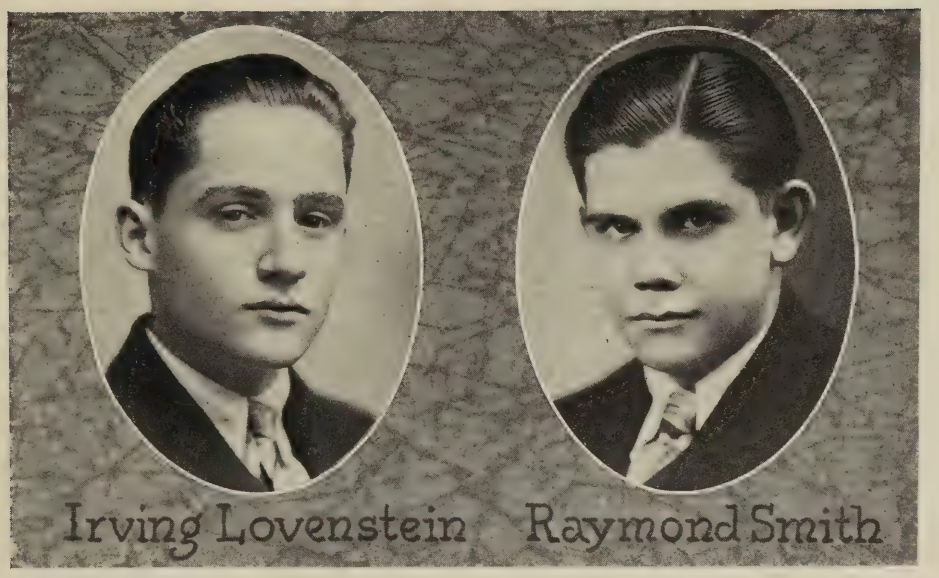
Vice-President . . . . . IRVING LOVENSTEIN

Emerson said: "A foolish consistency is the hob-goblin of little minds." This, in the thought-laden words of a philosopher, is the expediency of a debating society. To prevent a foolish consistency and to broaden and strengthen "little minds" is the purpose of debating.

A constant exchange of opinion, an open forum, in which idle statements find little sympathy, proofs impregnably stated, serious discussion of problems both political and social, make inconsistency symbolic of progress. Original, logical thought is encouraged; profound reasoning power is developed; and individualism in expression is consequently produced.

Debating merely fecundates the seeds of thought and protects the young, defenseless fruit from premature, evil influences.



Debating

LAST YEAR, for the first time in many years, debating took its proper place among the other school activities at John Marshall. Our team, Meno Lovenstein and Arthur Cooke, defeated the representatives from Petersburg High School and William and Mary College at Charlottesville; the John Marshall team eliminated the debaters from fifty other high schools in Virginia and participated in the finals against Maury High School from Norfolk. Our team was defeated by a two-one decision.

In the 1927 preliminaries, H. Raymond Smith and B. Irving Lovenstein, representing the Marshall Debating Society, defeated Lillian Panossian and Mary Smith of the Van Vort Society and won the honor of representing John Marshall.

Our team met and defeated the William and Mary team on the negative side of the "short-ballot" question. On April 22, the John Marshall team defeated the Petersburg High School team at Petersburg on the affirmative. The John Marshall team is entitled to participate in the finals at Charlottesville held May 6 and 7.

The Pep Club

Yes, the "Gang" is just as it was before the war broke out, with the exception of "Liz" Lacy, who has become a very quiet and sedate young lady; Charlotte Bache, who has grown three feet; "Dot" Evans, who is no longer in love; Rogers Armitage, who has flowing tresses; Margaret Leake, who has joined George White's "Scandals"; Charlotte Eppes, who is a man hater; Lucia Patteson, who never dances; Ruth Harris, who has a boyish bob; and Margaret Pumphrey, who has given up the habit of chewing gum.

Following the tradition of our noble forbears, we, the members of the Pep Club of the year 1927, of J. M. H. S., City of Richmond, County of Henrico, and State of Virginia, do make, declare, and publish this, our last will and testament, in the following manner:

We do hereby give, devise, and bequeath:

I. To Margaret Baughman the name, vegetable, colors, hope and aim of the Pep Club.

II. To the Marshallite and John Marshall Record—any wooden nickles found hanging around.

III. To the Faculty—Common sense to balance their book sense.

IV. To the Class of '28—a successful Senior year.

V. To Miss Mary Williams, our sponsor—love and best wishes for the future.

In witness whereof, we have subscribed and affixed our seal at Richmond, Virginia, this first day of April, 1927.

Who hasn't heard Tootsie Payne's delightful giggle?
Who doesn't like our Ruth, the girl with the inconceivable capacity for winning friends?
Who doesn't remember Alice with her teasing ways and playful remarks?
Who can find bluer eyes than those of our Celeste?
Who will ever forget "Flo" with her cheery smile and sympathy for all?
Who is the only "Bootsie" that was a member last year? Mildred.
Who can meet Virginia Paul without feeling the presence of a friend?
Who fails to love Virginia Howey more each day after the introduction?
Who can fix a more attractive page than ours, done by Frances Tyler?
Who has ever attended John Marshall without meeting Juanita and appreciating her ready wit?
Who doesn't value Roberta's friendship as a treasure rare?
Who doesn't admire the dignity and sedateness of Esther?
Who doesn't like Emma with her kittenish ways?
Who can look at Anne without visualizing her in a "little Alice blue gown"?

MISS CHARLOTTE K. WHEELER MISS AZILI BERRY

EACH year the Class of Drama has produced a long play that has been noteworthy for one outstanding feature. As "The Temple of Dust" will be remembered for its stirring originality, and "Hamlet" for its magnificent acting, so will "The Tempest" linger in the Club's memoirs as its most beautiful production. Its colorful, symbolic settings formed a background for a lovely picture that cannot be erased by time.

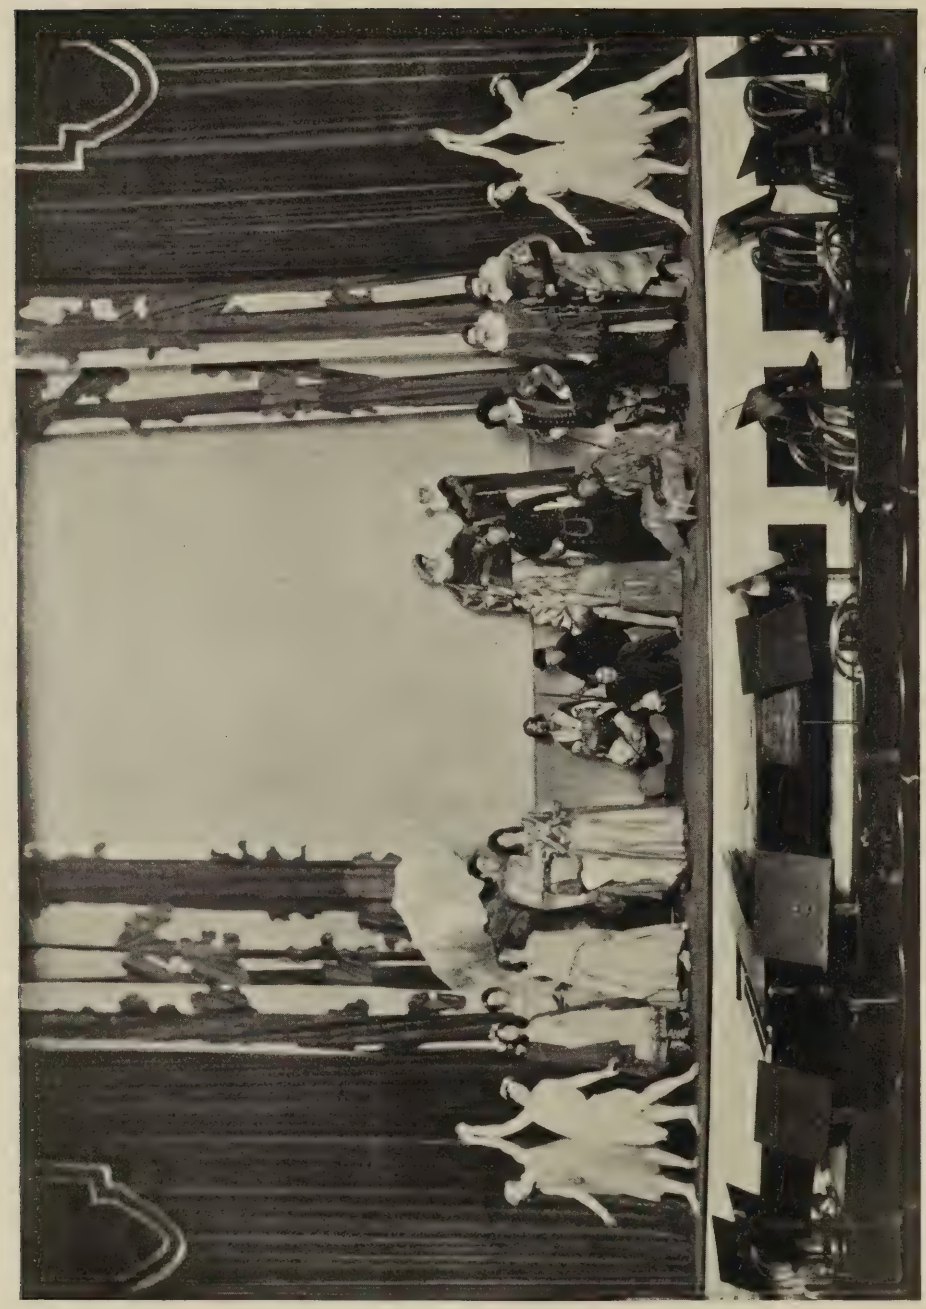
Besides putting on "The Tempest" the club assisted in the production of the school operetta, "In Old Vienna," and has produced many delightful one-act plays.

However, all of the time has not been devoted to play acting. The class has really been a "Class of Drama." It has studied the minute details of the stage and has procured lecturers on designing, make-up, et cetera, which have infused in our dramatic presentations a finished air.

It has had some play time, too, as those who attended "Stunt Night" will recall.

Moreover, a most charming little pin has been adopted and the custom of leaving a gift to the club inaugurated. This class is particularly proud of the beautiful, modern stage which it leaves for the enjoyment of future clubs.

Indeed it might be said that the projects which this year's Class of Drama has inaugurated and successfully carried through have aroused the envious admiration of all.



The Tempest

The Tempest

"Come unto these yellow sands."

AN AUDIENCE came one night, drawn by the "Tempest," to the mysterious island of golden sands where strange creatures roamed and flitted here and there, dancing to the strains of weird music which seemed to issue forth from among the rocks and trees—"noises, sounds, and sweet airs that give delight but hurt not." They lived in enchantment for three brief hours of that summer's day while they followed the eventful courses of the dwellers and creatures of the island.

A dream? No, this tempest was our "Tempest," and how very real it was! Frank Moser was splendid as the powerful magician, and should we wonder that Margaret Pumphrey played so admirably the difficult role of the airy spirit, Ariel? Charlie Broaddus was King Alonzo and Jack Harris and William Vaden were the stately lords, Adrien and Francisco. The dastardly villains Antonio and Sebastian were Arthur Phillips and Leonard Whittemore, and who would have believed that William Berry was that uncouth, misshapen creature of the earth, Caliban? "Dutchy" Wrenn and Earl Samuels were reelingly funny as the drunken Stephano and Trinculo. He whom the Fates fashioned for "Prince Charming" was none other than Donald Rawlings and the lovely lady who captivated him was Eleanor Hasbrouck. This happy pair was smiled upon and blessed by three fair goddesses, Mildred Jackson, Helen Selden, and Lora Lee Robinson who played the parts of Juno, Iris, and Ceres.

The sweet airs of the island which touched the heart of the brutish Caliban, brought the Prince to tears, frightened the plotting Stephano, and charmed the audience, were composed especially for our presentation of Shakespeare's play. Here we set one down—Ariel's song!

SYNOPSIS OF SCENES

Act I—Garden of Wurtzelpraeter Inn, Vienna, at Carnival Time.
Act II—Gypsy Camp near Vienna that evening.
Act III—Same as Act I, next evening.

Time—The Present Place—Vienna

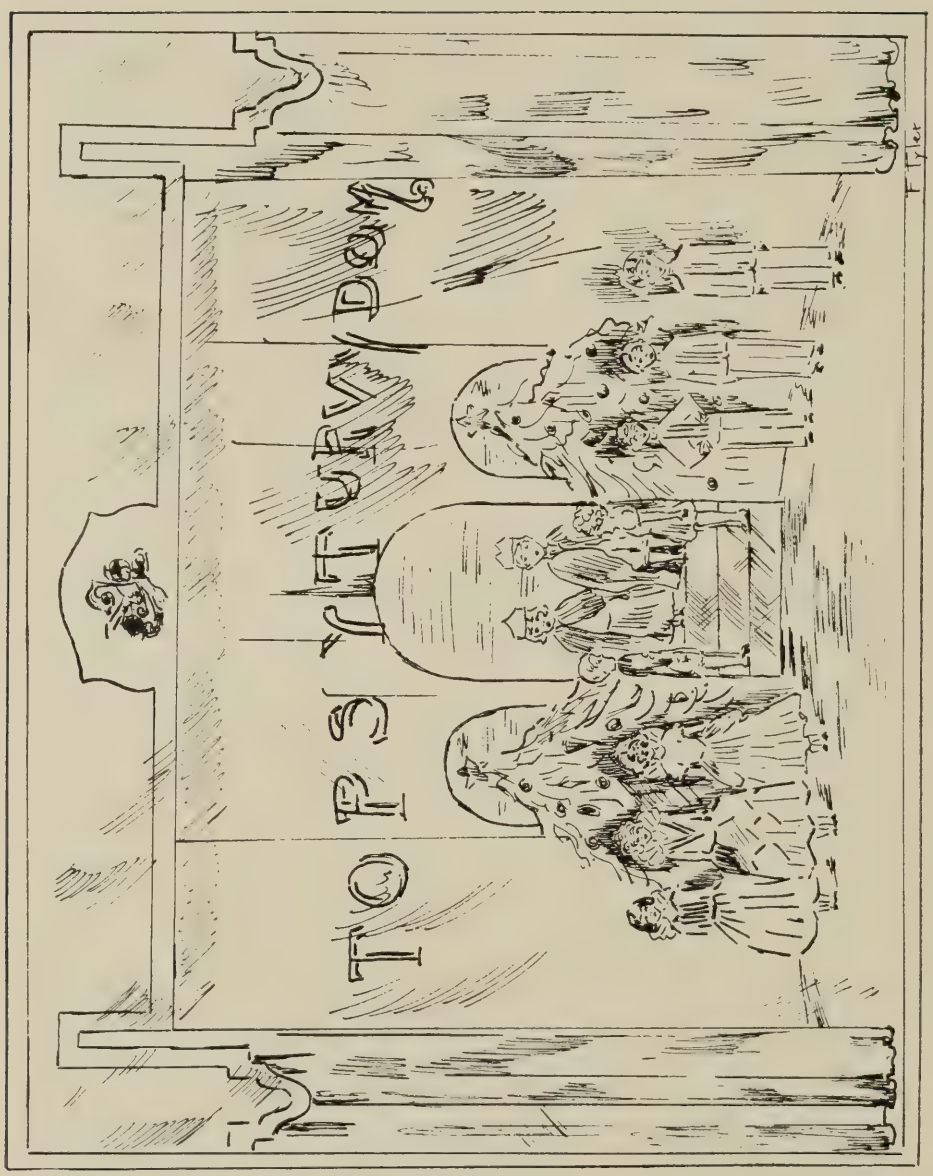
"In Old Vienna" was indeed an excellent choice for the annual production presented by John Marshall. The libretto was entertaining and clever, and the music very tuneful. Not only were our artists given a chance to prove their vocal ability, but our actors and actresses were given a splendid opportunity to prove their histrionic ability, and the graceful ballet numbers presented by the dancers added much to the beauty of the operetta.

The scenery was far superior to the ordinary settings generally seen, especially in the second act. All of the scenes were made by the pupils of the art department. The artistic lighting arrangements added greatly to the general effect, and enhanced the already lovely costumes of the principals and the chorus.

Judging from the responsive and enthusiastic audiences, the operetta delighted all spectators, and we feel sure that "In Old Vienna" was a success from every standpoint, and that this success was due mainly to the untiring efforts of Mr. Walter Mercer, who directed the music; Misses Ray Van Vort and Charlotte K. Wheeler, who coached the cast; Mr. Frank Spear, who had charge of the scenery; Mr. Sisson, who had charge of the electric lighting; Mr. Beverly, Miss Goodwyn, and the rest of the faculty who so generously gave of their services during the production.



CHRISTMAS PLAY

Christmas

DECEMBER 23, the day before the Christmas holidays! The shouting of happy Marshallites and Alumni, who had forgotten to be sedate, was almost drowned by the roar of the band as it thundered forth those familiar strains of "High School Born." The auditorium was a veritable bedlam; care was banished and joy reigned. The spirit of good fellowship was everywhere, and Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman mingled with Alumni and Faculty.

Mr. Harwood welcomed the "old grads" while the enthusiastic audience vented its emotion by cheering wildly. The Christmas play was announced, and, as the prologue began, the spectators became quiet. The curtains were drawn and there stood revealed the land of "Topsyturvydom"—

"A land of joy and never-ending mirth,
As different as can be from this earth,
Where children rule and men obey,
And parents do just as their children say."

The diminutive King Peto and his equally small Queen were enthroned between two huge peppermint sticks, surrounded by lovely ladies and gallant gentlemen. Two Christmas trees stood on either side of the stage and lighted the festive scene with their radiance. The tiny King conducted his court with surprising dignity, and even when Jolly and Polly boisterously appeared on the scene his calm was unruffled. The play moved smoothly on to a triumphant finish, and when Bumblekin sang his song the audience fairly shrieked its appreciation.

After the play, Santa Claus and his helpers distributed Christmas gifts to the faculty. The band began to play again, and the crowd, with lingering glances about the auditorium, dispersed and went over to the Wythe gymnasium where they "tripped the light fantastic" until evening.

Verse

How like is verse unto a leaf,
A dainty, veined, and waving frond
That glows with colors, gold and brown,
And flutters like a spirit down
With other leaves, unto the ground,
A treasure of the forest.

Till picked up by the winds of chance
And dropped into the flowing stream,
To breast the tide, a fairy ship
Caught in the swirling water's grip,
Until, perchance, to softly slip
Into some sheltered haven.

Thus is a verse, by poet cast
Upon the swirling stream of life;
A fragile bark without a goal,
To heed the water's beck, and roll
On down, until it strikes a soul,
Its haven in a heart.

ATHLETICS

COACH DAVE MILLER

Athletics in School

ATHLETICS have a natural appeal and an absorbing interest to the majority of people. The tremendous importance attached to sports in our schools of to-day is a subject widely discussed and one to which the directors of education have given much thought. Many considerations and interests, therefore, conspire to make this subject one of constantly increasing importance.

There is probably no other phase of school life which develops the student so fully as organized recreation. An average person who has been well drilled in athletics has a mind that is more receptive and better developed for study than a person who does not participate in any form of sport. His memory has been trained, he has a better reasoning power, and he has become alert and agile minded.

Athletics develop a desire for and an approval of strictly fair play. They bring forth the highest elements of school spirit. In indulging in athletics, the student strives to do his best. Unconsciously it becomes a lifelong habit with him to work toward this end. The associations formed and experiences gained fit him for the countless contacts of life. He is prepared for leadership if he attains a responsible place on a team. Confidence is gained from the pride of his team's accomplishments. The athlete usually becomes the best citizen of a community and is better able to lift the moral standards of the world. He learns coöperation, for as Kipling says—

"It's not the work of one man
That brings us to the goal;
It's the everlasting teamwork
Of every bloomin' soul."

John Marshall's trophies show that our teams have done their part in winning honor and fame. The school is doing a great work in encouraging and training athletes who are proficient in literary and academic excellence. Here athletics do not conflict with studies to the extent that they do in some schools.

The faculty of John Marshall do not tolerate the athletic parasite. The man who is in school for athletics alone disgraces the school, degrades athletics, and shuts out a better man for his place on the team.

John Marshall has graduated some students whom we might call wizards in both athletics and scholastics. We believe that the athletes of John Marshall will never have to say, "The man I might have been shall never be."

Football

FOLLOWING laborious and spirited work, usually come triumph and success, accompanied by reward. The explanation of John Marshall's success on the grid for 1926 is not a difficult task. In awarding the final "letters," we gave one to the team, one to Coach Miller, one to the Cadet Corps, and one to the student body, for all have contributed their share in the struggle for success.

For the first time in its football career, John Marshall has had an all-time coach. It is true that we have had some fine ones; but none of them gave his full time to the development of athletics for the school. This season we had for our coach one of the most competent men who has ever worked with the Blue and White.

Mr. Dave M. Miller, letter man and alumnus of the University of Richmond, coached our team of 1926. While attending the University, Mr. Miller made a most enviable record. He received eleven letters besides maintaining a remarkable average in his studies. We were indeed fortunate in having so fitting a man for this position, and to him is due much credit for having managed most ably the financial and sporting phases of the team.

In September Coach Miller was confronted by the gigantic task of building a team to represent old John Marshall. Out of sixty-five men to report at practice, only four had won former recognition at High School. These were: Joe Bentley, captain and end; George Magill, quarterback; Swede Nuchols, center; and William Martin, tackle.

Practice! Practice! Practice!

Finally out of the sixty-five originals was precipitated a squad of thirty men to represent the school.

October arrived, bringing with it the first game of the season and sloppy, muddy weather. Although we were in suspense concerning the fray, reports finally reached us that the field had been drained enough to allow the two teams to play. At 3:30 the home-team romped on the field, all dressed in their new regalia. Contrary to general opinion, this dreary day, instead of bringing gloom and defeat, brought us out on the long end of a 12-0 score. That night the boys from Randolph-Macon went back to their metropolis without the so-called bacon.

John Marshall won its second victory in two weeks, by defeating

Blackstone High School. Although this team outweighed us, they could not compete with the clever and hard playing which our team displayed. The result of this encounter was 20-0.

St. Christopher was next on our schedule. We expected to win the game by about twelve points, but fell exactly twelve points short of our expectations. After a thrilling, spilling, soul-rending encounter, the game ended in a deadlock, 0-0.

Our next battle was played with the Suffolk High School team before one of the smallest crowds of the season. It is not difficult to see the reason of the small scores. Suffice it to say, John Marshall emerged the victor, 10-0.

Six days later, on the 29th of October, we played the much talked of McGuire team. From beginning to end, this was football enough to excite anyone. Early in the first quarter we were scored upon, and from then until the final period, the battle raged up and down the field. In this last quarter, with the ball on McGuire's ten-yard line, they attempted to kick. This effort was blocked, and Archie Hannah recovered the pig-skin and carried it over their goal to the admiration of some four thousand yelling Marshallites. From then until the finish, McGuire's held the ball in our territory, thereby keeping our students on the anxious bench. When the whistle blew and the smoke of battle had cleared away, the score was seen to be 7-7. The afternoon of October 29 had been a thriller.

Petersburg also ran—

November 6 was a Saturday, too, and as we played Petersburg on this day, it was only natural that several of our fair co-eds should journey to the Goobertown to witness the affair. Now, it is said the score was 31-7, believe it or not. In this game, all the substitutes were used, not because they were needed, but because the coach wanted to save the first team.

The scene shifted to Norfolk. For our Armistice day program we were to play the strong Maury team. Three long quarters our boys fought, but the superior number and weight of our opponents told the tale. The margin of victory for the seasiders was 13, compared with our 0.

Hip! Hip! Hooray! When Greek meets Greek! When cadet meets cadet. What is it all about? Why this is November 20. What? Well, did you ever? We play Benedictine to-day. The clash of cymbals and the tooting of clarinets are heard, and the whole cadet corps of John Marshall is led on the field by the band. After a few movements they march to their reserved seats and the game begins. How well our boys look in their new jerseys with the big white numerals on the back.

And such a game! Why during the first half, our little Peaco tore down the field for eighty yards and a touchdown. This broke the spirit of the Irish and twenty points were rolled up during the first two periods. But the second half was a different story. The boys of the Green and White school displayed fight and power. John Marshall was unable to score again, but who cared as long as a game of this calibre was being enacted for them? Benedictine deserves much credit for their showing in the last half of this game, because John Marshall had them outclassed in experience, material, and reserve force. 20-0 was the final result.

As usual we went to Newport News for our Thanksgiving game. At this time the student body exhibited their loyalty and spirit in turning out in large numbers to this contest. During the proceedings of this game, which, incidentally, the Shipbuilders won 18-7, several of our players were hurt very badly. This was a fast game throughout the entire four periods, and only by getting several lucky breaks was the home-town able to score so many points on us. Nevertheless, anyone will tell you it was a game worth seeing. At this point it is significant to notice that the whole squad made this trip and also the journey to Petersburg and Norfolk for the first time in the history of the school.

After careful consideration by the Coach and the Athletic Association, the John Marshall monogram was given the following: Captain Joe Bentley, Archie Hannah, Peaco Todd, Louis Wilson, Frank West, Chris Tompkins, William Tompkins, William Martin, Charles Jeter, Carter Haase, Hodgdon Nuchols, George Magill, Ross Atkinson, Temple Wooters, and Manager Gilbert Holt.

During the season Captain Bentley broke his nose and sprained his back. On account of these injuries he was kept out of the Petersburg and Newport News games. Our dashing quarterback, George Magill, was appointed captain in these two instances.

A TRIBUTE

It is said that a school is judged, nowadays, by the teams that it turns out. If this be the case, John Marshall must have gained a reputation for playing fairly and squarely, and one for fighting hard. The team put its soul and body into making this season a successful one, and they have certainly done it! Coach Miller has filled his position wonderfully. Starting with a green team he has built up one whose "rep" will be long remembered. He has worked with the boys day in and day out—rain or shine—and he has made an experienced team of veterans out of a mob of motley greenhorns. Although the team did not win the city championship it has won for itself something even more valuable—the respect of other teams. More than once has it found itself fighting an uphill battle, and not once has it failed to fight even harder than before.

It's not whether one wins or loses—it's how one plays the game. It's not the material side that counts—it's the realization that one has played the game fairly and squarely—and the team of '26 has certainly done this.

As the boys go on in life we know that every one of them will continue to "play the game" in this manner and finally, because they have played like this, they will attain that for which they strive—Success.

BASKET BALL

BASKETBALL TEAM

Basketball

THE basketball team of '27 was one of the greatest John Marshall High School has ever developed. They won all the honors that were open to them. This was made possible by clean sportsmanship, determination, coöperation, and especially through the outstanding coaching of Mr. Miller. Mr. Miller's one aim has been, to make the John Marshall teams the strongest in the South and among the strongest in the country. We all know that Coach succeeded in turning out the most popular team in the South and one of the finest in the country. At the beginning of the season we were very much encouraged over the unusual ability of the material. John Adams, Bill King, Phess Woodson, Downey, and Sherman of the regular squad, were all men of experience and ability. Before the end of the season we had developed other outstanding players. Baker, Ruffin, Swink, Reams, Cohen, and Krapin played a responsible part in the team's successful season. The Manager, Archie Hannah, arranged a representative schedule of twenty games with the best teams in the state.

We won nineteen of the twenty games played, losing only to Maury. John Marshall made 902 points to their opponents' 442.

THE TEAM

LUDWELL SHERMAN—Captain of our team, is better known as Lud. Lud proved to be a real leader and was chosen for the second time to be one of the guards on the All-Tournament Team at Washington and Lee. That our Captain was undoubtedly the most popular player throughout the season was frequently acclaimed by the loud cheers of the spectators. We extend to Lud our thanks and appreciation of his loyal service and hope he will be among the leaders of next year.

BILL KING—Bill was also given a berth on the All-Tournament Team at Washington and Lee. Bill's floor work was considered by the S. I. A. A. officials, equal to any they had ever seen. In every game, Bill was always ready to pass to his teammates. In a number of games he threw away chances for high scoring in order that the passing of the smooth offense might not be broken. At Washington and Lee, Bill surpassed all of his opponents in speed, dribbling, shooting, and following up of his shots.

PHESS WOODSON—Although hindered by poor sight, Phess was very consistent and played his part like a veteran. Often his ability to get the ball off the backboard saved us in a tight pinch. Phess, who was taken sick at Washington and Lee, was unable to play a prominent part in the winning of the Tournament. The tip-off from Phess to Lud to Adams to the basket was certainly feared by all of our opponents. Game after game Woodson made this combination possible.

JOHN ADAMS—Johnny is the famous strawberry blonde we hear the girls talk about so much. We can always count on him on the court. His accurate shooting in every contest, easily outstripped his opponents and made possible numerous overwhelming scores. Johnny won high scoring honors at the Washington and Lee Tournament and was placed on the second All-Tournament Team. Johnny was the most feared of all the boys; often he snatched the ball from the opposing team and made it count for two points. Adams expects to be with us next year, and it is probable that again he will lead the field.

BILL DOWNEY—Tall, wiry, and fast, Bill's superior guarding was capable of holding the score down at the critical time. He was always encouraging his teammates; his optimism kept them confident. Bill gained quite a reputation as a star. His fast floor work, sure shooting, and unusual temperament kept him at the top throughout the season.

GORDON BAKER—At the beginning of the season we heard very little of Baker. He worked earnestly and gradually developed into an outstanding player. Gordon stepped to fame in the Washington and Lee Tournament, filling to perfection the place of "Phess" Woodson, who was unable to play. We are looking forward to Gordon's being among the leaders next year.

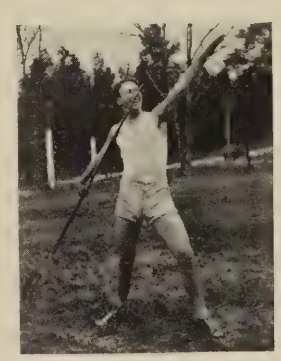
TRACK TEAM

Track

OF the great athletes of the Ancients, the Greeks stand out to us as the foremost. They contended for prizes in the great public games, in boxing, wrestling, running, leaping, and throwing the discus. Many of these practices have been handed down to us in a modern form. They have been grouped together and called Track. All of the events in our meets may be traced back to the Greeks.



As the purpose of this article is to enumerate John Marshall's feats and defeats in the past season of track, it is most fitting to say something about the man who has been at the back of everything and has spurred us on to victory. Our coach for the season has been Mr. John H. Cronly. If experience makes a coach, we have certainly had a good one. Mr. Cronly, who was the former holder of the world's record for hurdles, has always taken great interest in all forms of track.

At the beginning of the season sixty-seven men reported at the Grays' Armory. Of this number only five had had any previous experience. As one looked over the list, he felt disappointed on not seeing a Bill Haase or a Boggess, both of whom did great things last year, but he was brightened by an Angle. Angle has come out mighty handy this season on the relay team and in the 440's. Crighton, Smith, Biddle, C. Haase, and W. Tompkins were also back from last year.

The first event of the season was the University of Richmond Scholastic Meet held at Grays' Armory on February 12. Many high schools of the State were represented here. John Marshall was not first in everything, but her winnings were not slight. R. Smith was second in the high jump, which stood at five feet three inches. The great thriller of the meet was John Marshall's defeat of Eastern High School in the relay race. Everyone present will remember how Angle passed that Easterner when we Marshallites had just about given up hope. The team was composed of Hope, Barker, Angle, and Lodge. The Junior team was defeated by Benedictine and the Intermediates by St. Christopher.

One week later found our relay team again in the Grays' Armory, this time for the University of Richmond Collegiate Meet. Again Benedictine defeated us in the relay. St. Christopher came in third.

John Marshall came out better in the University of Virginia Indoor Meet held several weeks later at Charlottesville. This was mainly attended by the prep schools of the State, and we did well against such competitors. Again Smith scored in the high jump. He was third. Carter Haase, big Bill's little brother, was second in the shotput, and W. Tompkins was third. Phaup, a new man on the team, was second in the 880. John Marshall again bowed to Benedictine in the relay race. We certainly showed improvement, and signs were bright for the next meet, which happened to be the Lord Reading Club's.

This was held at Grays' Armory on February 26. Again our high jumper, Mr. Smith, came out with laurels by being second. Phaup showed some nice running and won second place in the 880. Martin, another new man, scored second in the mile. Our Junior relay team defeated the Boys' Club in a spirited race.

And thus ended the indoor season. John Marshall had showed what it was made of, although it had made no brilliant scores. The outdoor season offers better promises, and needless it is to say that we shall come out fine. Practice can make a team, and we surely have the willingness to practice. Here follows the schedule for the outdoor meets:

April 4—University of Richmond Freshmen.....Home

April 26—Tidewater Meet .....Williamsburg

May 6-7—Athletic and Literary League Meet.....Charlottesville

May 10—City Meet .....Home

Coach . . . . . DAVE MILLER
Captain . . . . . NORVELL TAYLOR
Manager . . . . . WARREN PEARMAN

BASEBALL is as sure a sign of the coming of spring as is the coming of the robin.

When Coach Dave Miller issued the call for baseball candidates, many true Marshallites interested in baseball reported to him. He met these huskies the first day in George Wythe Gym. On Monday of the following week the candidates reported to the coach at the Boys' Club Field on Broad Street. There were more than a hundred young hopefuls out on this day.

Coach Miller had little or no nucleus with which to work. Four letter men were back, however, who would help lighten his burden. These are Captain "Icky" Taylor, the veteran southpaw; Johnny Adams, the old steady right-handed pitcher; Lud Sherman, the only letter-man infielder to return; and last, but not least, John Curry, who has received a letter for his services at home plate.

Coach Dave has worked hard to whip into shape a team from such a large amount of raw material. Many of the recruits are good hitters and some are exceptional fielders. There is a great deal of contention over the initial sack.

A tentative schedule follows:

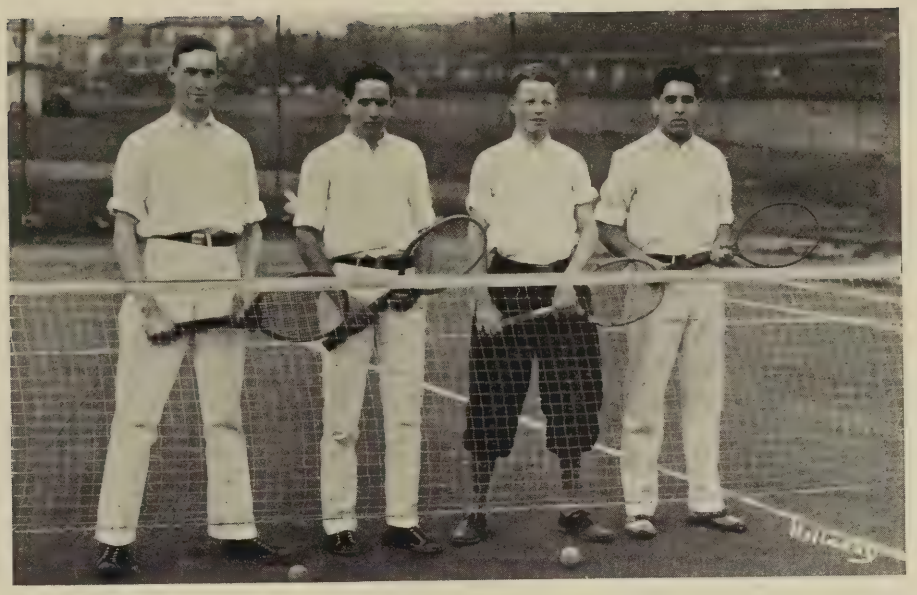
April 8—U. of R. Freshmen.
April 9—Randolph-Macon Freshmen.
April 14—Fishburne Military Academy.
April 15—University of Virginia Freshmen.
April 16—V. M. I. Freshmen.
April 18—W. & L. Freshmen.
April 22—Benedictine.
April 26—St. Christopher's.
April 29—William and Mary Freshmen.
April 30—Newport News.
May 6—Benedictine.
May 7—Petersburg High.
May 12—McGuire's.
May 18—Petersburg.
May 20—St. Christopher's.
May 24—McGuire's.

Crew

WITH the double victory of 1926 behind them, the John Marshall High School Crew of this year is out for more opponents to conquer. Although practice started a month late, with our good material and excellent coach, Jesse Devine, the prospects are very bright.

With the six letter men—Captain Sam Cole, Robert Haase, John Hamlet, James Anderson, Charles Duggins, and Coxswain John Reynolds to build around, the new men will soon learn and become expert oarsmen.

Because the spring Regatta is scarcely two months off, the men are working hard to get in shape for the meet. A race with the crack crew of Central High, of Washington, D. C., has also been planned.



Tennis

THIS is John Marshall's third year of tennis. The previous two years, good teams were developed and the same is hoped for this year. We have arranged games with the following schools: Maury, Fishburne Military Academy, Benedictine, Lynchburg High, and Randolph-Macon. The following men compose the team: Woodson, Tinsley, Cervarich, Wallerstein, Foy, and Held.

Girls' Basketball

STARTING under the handicap of having only two girls back from last year's team, Mrs. Wood finally succeeded, through hard work and enthusiasm, and the co-operation of the girls, in forming a team which upheld John Marshall's standards throughout a fairly successful season.

The team wishes to thank the school for its support, which was shown not only by attendance at the games, but by the uniforms with which the squad was supplied for the first time in John Marshall history.

Ships

Oh, the clipper she's a chipper,
And as dapper as a swan,
When she spreads her snowy sails to catch the breeze;
And she bucks the plunging water
Like a wild and wayward daughter
Of the foaming, rearing, pitching, tossing seas.

Pipe the brig, she's short and ugly,
And as clumsy as a clown,
Far too blunt to churn the water into cream;
Then she can't scud through the water
Like a true sea daughter ought to,
When the wind is straight abaft her on her beam.

And the brigantine's a baby,
Not a ship to dare the sea;
Then the frigate has a frown upon her brow;
But the clipper, she's the daughter
Of the heaving ocean water,
And the best upon the surface, I'll allow.

RUFTY

CAPT. JAMES C. ANTHONY

The Battalion

WITH the return of practically all the cadet commissioned officers appointed in June of 1926, the corps reorganized in September in record time. In fact, full-dress parades were held within a week after the date of reorganization.

In early October every cadet was issued an R. O. T. C. Manual. No textbooks had been available for instruction purposes since 1918, due to the War Department rescinding the old Infantry Drill Regulations. The new textbook has been of the greatest value in the training of the corps during the session of 1926-27. In fact, its use has enabled us to undertake many phases of infantry instruction not heretofore attempted. The general result is that every cadet is better qualified for command and leadership than would have been possible otherwise.

Infantry guidons were purchased in November and made a part of each company's equipment at full-dress formation. The fact that the infantry colors are blue and white makes the guidon a most attractive addition to the full-dress appearance of the corps. With the purchase of the guidons an arms repair chest was bought, so that now as soon as a rifle is damaged or minus any of its parts, it is immediately repaired.

On February 1st the Annual Government Inspection was conducted by Lieutenant-Colonel Clarence Deems, Jr., Field Artillery, U. S. Army, acting in the capacity of R. O. T. C. Officer for the Third Corps Area. The result of the inspection has been recorded in a letter from Major-General Douglas MacArthur, until recently Superintendent at West Point.

HEADQUARTERS
THIRD CORPS AREA, U. S. A.
BALTIMORE, MD., February 2, 1927.

MR. JAMES C. HARWOOD, Principal,
John Marshall High School,
Richmond, Virginia.

MY DEAR MR. HARWOOD:

I am in receipt of the recent report of inspection made February 1, 1927, by Lieut.-Col. Clarence Deems, Jr., Field Artillery (D. O. L.), R. O. T. C. Officer at this headquarters, which relates to the excellent work being accomplished by your corps of cadets.

The War Department does not arrange for a competitive classification of Government-aided schools, as is done in the R. O. T. C. units, but the report made to me is of such a commendatory nature regarding results that your cadet corps has effected from the standpoint of precision in close order military movements, physical drills, cleanliness and neatness of appearance, military courtesy and esprit, that it affords me the keenest pleasure in announcing the outcome to you. I extend to you and Captain Anthony my warm congratulations for the superior results that you have been able to attain, and wish you and your corps of cadets continued success in this movement so valuable to your city, your State, and the country at large.

With expressions of regard,

Cordially yours,
(Signed) DOUGLAS MACARTHUR,
Major-General Commanding.

Because of the difference in size of cadets in the respective companies, the annual award in May, of the Battalion's Competitive Drill Cup was made on a different basis than before. The work of the companies throughout the year was given a weight of 50 per cent, and the drill itself counted the remaining 50 per cent. In consideration of the height difference, however, handicaps were made in favor of the smaller cadets.

The work of the corps in general during 1926-27 has been shaped with the purpose of qualifying more and better leaders than ever before. To this end drastic changes were made in the military curriculum, so that theoretical instruction was given according to previous military work. This not only developed better leaders among the cadet graduates, but also proved to be a means of maintaining greater interest in the progress in military from grade to grade.

Every cadet in the corps was made a member of the National Rifle Association in November, in order to place rifle shooting on a fully recognized basis. Below is a picture of the Rifle Team which has won many honors for High School. In this group are Cadets Edwin Loeber and Marvin Saunders, who were awarded silver and bronze medals, respectively, for their proficiency in shooting in the Third Corps Area.

Faculty Acrostics

Always befriending a cause that is right
Championing athletics with all of her might Contriving ever to make it the best—our Marshallite.

Mighty good sport in every way,
Varying the toils of Latin with joy and play,
Whizzing about in a gay Chevrolet.

Ever see the beauties the poets have shown to you?
Hear what Emerson declared was true?
But yes, of course, if you've known her well, you do.

Now would you accurate be, my dear?
Care for your homework with trembling and fear.
Pretend to her! Not on this terrestrial sphere.

All wise from guiding our youth
Keeping us straight and teaching us truth
Keeping our minds on Latin forsooth.

Giving the very best that he could,
Judging even the worst of us good,
Loving History some more than we would.

In French—and all other literature
Made beautiful to make us pure—
We judge her good, for sure.

Just as merry as the day is long,
Ever encouraging us with a song,
Making us quiet when our voices are strong.

Mighty teacher of history is she,
Very serious when she wants to be,
Sarcastic sometimes as most will agree.

So very energetic as she trips about the halls
Even in this manner she chases tennis balls.

Down at the office you may behold
Gracious maid of fairest mold,
Crowned with crest of rarest gold.

Come listen! There's a lady with beautiful hair,
Kind lady with judgment so rare
Who likes children and actors and gives plays beyond compare.

"Now tell me," she said, "before it's too late—
Have you all the points you need to graduate?"

Remember, dear friends, a lady who used to say,
(Very gently, of course.) You musn't do that, but this you may,
Voicing, too, her wise advice and rules for us to obey.

Livy, Ovid, Vergil, Caesar, . . . Latins all,
Pagan gods and the tales of Rome from rise to fall
We learn and well we learn from a lady fair and tall.

Just as wise and jolly as he can be Cheering on the game most merrily
Helping us the right from wrong to see.

On Roller Shades

HONESTLY believe that if I were to visit the most reclusive hermit of the world, who lived at least a four day's journey by aeroplane from his nearest neighbor, I should find his home fully equipped with roller shades.

Roller shades! The very words fill me with a feeling that is akin to sea-sickness, and my past experiences have not been such that they will allay this feeling. Instead every day gives me more and more cause to denounce them to the world.

Of the interior of a roller shade, I know nothing beyond the fact that it is safer to vivisect two full-fledged wild cats than one harmless looking roller shade. For I have tried it. On taking off the steel cap that covers the working end, I was assailed by a long viperous steel spring, which took advantage of my innocence in such matters to deliver a blow equal to about three concentrated Dempsey rights.

But of their exterior traits I know all. For during my life, made hectic by these rolling demons, I have come in contact with each specie of the tribe: red ones, green ones, cream ones, large ones, small ones, and several wornout ones. Invariably each of these, by its antics, has caused me almost to commit suicide.

It was only this morning that I desired to see what the world looked like at that time of day. Since the shade was down, I reached over and took hold of the little tassle that always adorns the lateral end of them. Knowing shades, I held my breath as I gave the tug that the manufacturers prescribe as sufficient to raise it; but instead of going up, it came down about half a foot, and seemed to have a desire to stay there, since no number of rather forceful words on my part would persuade it to change position. Another jerk. This time the results were a little better, since I could see the lower part of the bottom sash. Encouraged by this, I gave a decisive yank, which moved the shade back to its first position.

Maddened beyond expression, I took a grip on the thing, braced my feet on the radiator, and put my very soul into a pull that would have done credit to a team of tractors. With a diabolical screech and whirr, down came the shade, roller, and all its fixtures, covering me from head to foot with its unholy self. That this caused me to recover my mental equilibrium is shown by the fact that I threw all of the shade that I could find out of the window.

It is well known that certain gifted mortals can, with a mere touch of the fingers and a flick of the eyebrow, make any shade go to the required height. If you are one of this type, consider yourself fortunate. You are spared much of the agony of life.

275 TO GRADUATE FROM HIGH SCHOOL

John Marshall Announces Largest Number in Its History.

The largest number of graduates in the history of John Marshall High school will receive diplomas at the fifty-third annual commencement of the school at the city auditorium tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock. More than 275 will be given sheepskins certifying that they have successfully completed four years of study. Eight certificates for vocational work will be awarded.

The size of the John Marshall class has been increasing yearly. This year it was so large that it was decided not to have a commencement speaker, since so much time is consumed by the delivery of diplomas. W. Floyd Reams, chairman of the school board, will deliver the diplomas. The school orchestra will render music and students will sing school songs. Scholarship awards will be announced by James C. Harwood, principal.

Of the following graduates, twenty-two took the Latin course, four the commercial course and the remainder the elective course:

Will Merchants Cease to Advertise?

Yes—, when the trees grow upside down,
When the beggar wears a crown,
When ice forms upon the sun,
When the sparrow weighs a ton,
When gold dollars get too cheap,
When all women secrets keep,
When the fish forget to swim,
When old Satan sings a hymn,
When it's fun to break a tooth,
When all lawyers tell the truth,
When the drummer has no brass—
When these things shall come to pass,
Then the man that's very wise
Will neglect to advertise.

Exchange.

RICHMOND

In the estate-building plans of the average young man, particularly the recent graduate from school or college, life insurance should enjoy first consideration as a means of practising that thrift which has ever been the basic factor of every outstanding success.

For thus making youth the servant of one's future, modern finance knows no method superior to that afforded by Endowment Policies.

When Printing Becomes A Fine Art

IT IS in the production of such masterpieces of typography as this, the 1927 Marshallite, that printing rises to the level of one of the fine arts.

The Marshallite is a striking example of the skill of our organization in expressing the spirit as well as the letter of the subject in hand.

We are specialists in planning and executing annuals, catalogs and booklets of the better class.

Acknowledgments

The Staff of the 1927 MARSHALLITE wishes to express our indebtedness and our appreciation:

To Miss Eva Hughes Branch for her expert advice so willingly given to us who so frequently called for it.

To Mr. Roy B. Bradley of the William Byrd Press, Inc., for his interest and untiring zeal in making our ANNUAL a success.

To the Virginia Engraving Company for their co-operation and skillful work in making our engravings.

To Mr. Holladay of Homeier and Clark for his patience and care in taking the many photographs portrayed herein.

To our advertisers for their financial support.

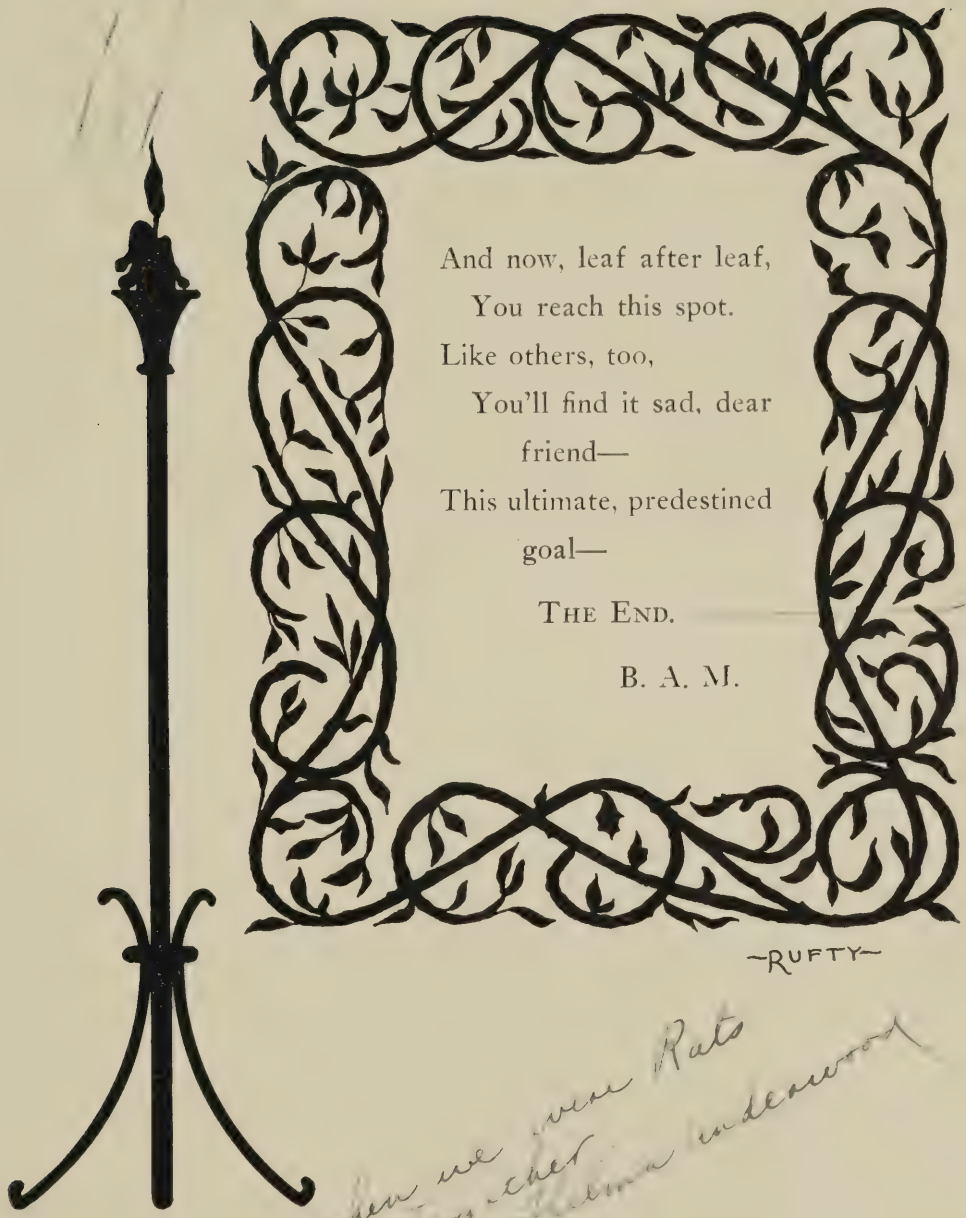
To Mrs. Ann C. Clarke of the Art Department for her assistance in suggestions and her work in advising our artists.

To the Typewriting Department for their many hours of labor.

Tribute: A Dedication

THE ultimate realization of an ideal: it is unquestionably a noble goal, and the spirit which inspires endeavor toward this desideratum is indeed one of instrinsic worth. To it we owe the unselfish efforts of the MARSHALLITE Staffs of preceding years, and to it we owe that crystallization of those efforts—last year's volume.

And now another MARSHALLITE goes to press . . . . We have tried to make it better, better . . . . always better . . . . and for any measure of success we may attain, we feel grateful to the Staffs of yester-year, and to the spirit which animated them, that wonderful spirit to which we have aspired. . . . Whether we have reached it we shall never know, but we feel, nevertheless, that we owe it tribute. . . . To it we dedicate this page.



And now, leaf after leaf,
You reach this spot.
Like others, too,
You'll find it sad, dear friend—
This ultimate, predestined goal—

THE END.
